VANDENBERG RAPS "BALL PLAN"

Democratic Party Revolt Brings Echoes In North

MacArthur Endorsed; Tuck OKs Bill Change

Two Massachusetts Democrats, Boston Mayor James M. Curley and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, urged that the party seek to nominate Gen. Douglas MacArthur for the presidency.

Curley was pardoned by Mr. Truman last Thanksgiving after serving five months of a 16 to 18 months' sentence for mail fraud. Ely has split with the Democratic national leadership before.

They gave their views in separate interviews while, in Chicago, the CIO United Auto Workers Executive Board said it would seek the formation of "a genuine progressive political party" after next fall's election.

The board endorsed the national CIO's refusal to support Henry A. Wallace's third party.

MacArthur also was recommended for the presidency by Francis P. Murphy, twice Republican Governor of New Hampshire and Democratic national committeeman from the Bay State in 1944.

Some leading Republicans have sounded out the General to see if he would accept their party's nomination. He hasn't said he would. But in reply to a recent GOP questionnaire he praised the Republican Party as the one which had never departed from the principle that "all political power resides in the people."

Tuck Okays Bill Revision

In Virginia, Gov. Tuck okayed a complete revision by the Legislature of a bill, proposed by him, which would have barred Mr. Truman's name from the November state ballot.

The revised bill, however, still requires Virginia's presidential electors to vote as the state party conventions decide.

Thus the 11 votes of solidly Democratic Virginia could be cast in the electoral college for some candidate other than the President.

Similar moves are under consideration in other southern states where Democrats are fighting Mr. Truman's anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and other "civil rights" recommendations.

In Nebraska, the name of Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) was formally entered in the forthcoming presidential preference primary election. Vandenberg asked that he be left off the ballot but did not say flatly that he would refuse the nomination.

Ely gave his views in an interview while Southern Democrats pressed their campaign to prevent Mr. Truman's nomination for the presidency.

And some politicians saw a move in the same direction in a radio speech last night by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo). His title was: "If I Were President". He said Mr. Truman had failed to bring about national unity.

Whether or not the seeds of southern revolt were taking root elsewhere in the country, candidates stepped up their campaign for the Republican presidential nod.

Stassen In New Hampshire

Former Gov. Stassen, of Minnesota, began a two-day swing through New Hampshire, telling his first audience that the United States must take "real leadership" in world affairs.

Dewey, his supporters said, will make a supreme bid in New Hampshire and in primaries April 6 in Wisconsin and May 21 in Oregon.

If Republican voters in those states turn out for him, he can claim cross-country support — in New SUES FOLSOM-- Mrs. Christine Johnston (above), 30, has asked a court at Cullman, Ala., to declare Gov. James E. Folsom, of Alabama, her legal husband and the father of her 22-month-old son. A similar suit was filed on the child's behalf.

14 Arabs Killed When Sternists Blow Up Building

27 Others Injured In Haifa Explosion

JERUSALEM, March 3 (AP) — A truck laden with 400 pounds of explosives blasted a seven-story Arab building in Haifa today, killing 14 Arabs and injuring 27.

The violence coincided with the arrival here of the first representatives of the United Nations Commission which will attempt to work out partition of the Holy Land.

Six members of the commission secretariat moved into a private apartment in the area of the King David Hotel, under heavy police guard. They were taken in armored cars to their barbed wire enclosed residence.

The Jewish Stern Gang claimed it was responsible for the Haifa blast. The explosion gutted the seven-story Salameh building and damaged others for four blocks along Stanton Street, a mixed Jewish and Arab section. One of the damaged buildings was the district police headquarters. The blast crumpled in the front half of a building across the street. The Salameh structure houses the Arab section of the government welfare office.

A Stern Gang communique said the Salameh building was the Haifa district headquarters for an Arab military group under the direction of Syrian and Iraqi officers. A police official said the statement was "nonsense," and that until recently the building, one of the city's tallest, had been used as a British army observation post.

It was the Stern Gang that claimed responsibility for the blowing up of the troop train near Rehovot Sunday that killed 28 British soldiers.

Police said many children were among today's blast victims.

Eyewitnesses said two army-type trucks came up the street prior to the explosion. The driver of the lead truck, in Arab dress, parked it at the Salameh building and got into the second truck.

The escort truck, which carried four men in uniform, drove off and a short time later the explosion occurred.

Army bulldozers and rescue workers dug into the litter of rock and plaster in their search for victims. Two of the dead were Arab policemen who were walking nearby.

Other incidents in Palestine today took the lives of six more Arabs and three Jews. The unofficial death toll since the November 29 decision of the United Nations to partition Palestine reached 1,562.

Folsom Asserts Politics Behind Divorcee's Suit

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) —Alabama's Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom declared today that politics lay behind court suits which ask that he be declared the common law husband of a red-haired divorcee and the father of her 22-month-old son.

The suits were filed in Cullman, Ala., yesterday on behalf of Christine Putman Folsom, also known as Mrs. Christine Johnston, and her baby son, James Douglas.

"I am in a political campaign in Alabama. I have had to face this type of tactics in other campaigns. That is all I have to say on that subject."

Parole Inquiry "Gag" Is Charged

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) accused the Justice Department today of putting "an iron curtain" in the way of his House committee's investigation of the paroling of four former Al Capone gangsters.

Attorney General Tom Clark hotly denied it. He also said if the committee turns up "any evidence that warrants an indictment, you can bet your bottom dollar there will be one."

Hoffman said individuals in the FBI and the Internal Revenue Bureau have told him, "We can give you plenty of information if you'll just get the gag off."

"I have no gag on anyone, in or out of the department," retorted Clark.

Hoffman's committee is trying to learn whether there was any "bribery or corruption" in the paroling of the ex-mobsters.

Maury Hughes, a Dallas lawyer who described himself as a lifelong friend of Clark, testified yesterday that he obtained dismissal of a mail fraud indictment against the four men.

Hughes said he was paid $15,000 by a man called Mike Ryan for getting the indictment quashed, thus paving the way for the four men's parole.

Clark said today he is prevented by law from giving certain confidential information to the committee. Moreover, he said, he is unwilling to disclose anything that would jeopardize pending or future prosecutions.

Finnish Leaders Delay Views On Proposed Pact

HELSINKI, March 3—(AP)—Most Finnish government leaders clung to their hesitancy tonight about hurrying into negotiations with the Soviet Union for a military pact against Germany.

They held to this attitude despite the reported impatience of President Juho Paasikivi over Parliament's delay in giving him its views on the subject.

Throughout the day the President was in almost constant consultation with his closest advisers.

It was reliably understood that much of the discussion revolved around the question of whether a defense pact against Germany was needed at this time. The view was offered that there is no possibility of German aggression in the foreseeable future.

All Quiet In Accra

ACCRA, Gold Coast, March 3 (AP) —Troops with shoot to kill orders restored order in Accra today following a weekend of rioting in which 25 persons were killed and several hundred wounded.

Larry Parks Loses Suit To Break His Contract

But he added there was "coercion" in getting Parks to sign the pact and that the actor "knew he couldn't get the lead in 'The Jolson Story' unless he signed."

CIO Packing Plant Union Calls Strike

Nationwide Walkout Scheduled March 16

CHICAGO, March 3—(AP)—A CIO union called a nationwide strike of its 100,000 meat packing plant workers today for March 16.

The strike of CIO United Packinghouse Workers was directed against Armour and Company, Cudahy Packing Company, Swift and Company, Wilson and Company, John Morrell and Company, Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation and other independent companies throughout the nation. The union called it to enforce demands for a 29 cents an hour wage increase.

A strike would cut the nation's consumer meat supply about in half, with the East feeling the pinch more than other sections, industry sources said. A shortage of fresh meat cuts would hit the average household within a few days after any work stoppage.

AFL Union Won Increases

The AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America already have signed an agreement covering 40,000 packing plant workers. They were granted wage boosts of nine cents an hour with the right to reopen the wage question in June.

Patrick E. Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the AFL union, said his members are "well satisfied" with their contract and will remain on the job.

Both the CIO and AFL meat packing plant workers unions struck two years ago, tying up most production for several days. The strike ended after the government seized the strikebound plants.

Ralph Helstein, president of the CIO union, said the strike is set for 12:01 a. m. March 16. He added:

"We are willing to continue negotiating with the companies, although it is apparent from our previous meetings that they are unwilling to give any realistic consideration to the serious economic needs of the packinghouse workers."

East Will Be Hit Hardest

Helstein said two thirds of the union's members earned less than $1.10 an hour and that "since 1939 the big companies have increased their profits well over 300 per cent while their stockholders enjoyed a 24 per cent return on their investment before tax deductions. x x x This is a sordid contrast to the living conditions forced upon their employes by inadequate wage rates."

Packers said the East would feel the most severe effects of any meat strike because meat is processed in the Midwest and West and shipped East. When supplies are low, they said, meat usually is consumed in greater quantity in the area in which it is processed.

GOVERNMENT SCRAPS "FEATHER-BEDDING" PHASE OF ITU CASE

INDIANAPOLIS, March 3—(AP)—Government attorneys, in a hurry for action, cut down today the scope of an injunction they are seeking against the International Typographical Union.

They voluntarily threw overboard the so-called "feather-bedding" phase of the case.

In more legal language, the office of Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the national Labor Relations Board, is no longer asking Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert to prevent the ITU from causing newspaper publishers to pay money for services which are not performed.

But, Denham is still charging the union with that Taft-Hartley Act violation in his companion case pending before an NLRB trial examiner. The charge is in connection with a long-standing ITU rule that certain newspaper ads must be set in type locally, even if the newspaper has received the ads, already prepared, from another city. The union has denied this rule violates the law.

Negro Nominated

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP) — The Progressive (Wallace) Party of Maryland announced today its nomination of a negro physician for the Fourth Congressional seat now held by Representative Fallon (D-Md.)

"Irregularities" In Surplus Property Sales In China Charged At McCabe Probe

All News To Him, FRB Nominee Says

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—A probe into the fitness of Thomas B. McCabe for a Federal Reserve Board post today turned into a barrage of charges that surplus property sales in China were badly handled.

McCabe is President Truman's choice for head of the board. If he is confirmed by the Senate, he will succeed Marriner S. Eccles. The Senate Banking Committee is checking on his record.

Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said he wants to (1) investigate McCabe's fitness for the job, and (2) find out what led Mr. Truman to demote Eccles to the vice chairmanship.

In a 10,000-word statement, Tobey said McCabe, while head of the war surplus sales abroad, ordered 11 nearly-new B-25 bombers destroyed.

He said this was to "forestall bad publicity" as a result of their sale to a private Chinese firm.

Today, McCabe said this was all news to him.

"Irregularities" Listed

Hubert R. Moody, a member of the staff of the Senate Expenditures Committee, testified that a long series of "serious irregularities" took place in surplus property transactions in China while McCabe was foreign liquidation commissioner.

He listed:

1. Sale of 151 planes for $500,000 as compared with an established world price of $2,730,000.

2. Inclusion, contrary to United States policy, of 11 B-25 bombers in this sale. He said they were destroyed to avert publicity, and that another B-25 which was not surplus was inadvertently destroyed also.

3. Charging other buyers, including the United States Relief and Rehabilitation Agency, more for surplus property than the Chinese government was charged.

Moody did not link McCabe directly with the charges, but he said McCabe was in China while they were investigated.

"Violation of Law"

Moody said when he called McCabe's attention to irregularities McCabe said Johnson's "weakness was poor public relations."

Moody said he replied it was "not bad press relations but outright violations of the law."

He said Johnson dismissed a subordinate because he protested the sale of blood plasma and drugs which later found their way to the Chinese black market, persisted in turning over property to the Chinese without contracts, cancelled a contract to sell sheet steel to American oil companies after half the $95,000 purchase price had been

Negroes Pass Up Polls After KKK Parade And Rally

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., March 3 (AP)—Only one negro approached the polls here today and even he didn't vote after the Ku Klux Klan had raised the spectre of a return to the days of Civil War reconstruction.

Before the polls opened for the Johnson County Democratic primary this morning, the Ku Klux Klan had staged a night parade around the county courthouse and a speech-making.

But City Judge W. C. Brinson said he didn't believe the Klan affair had anything to do with the absence of the city's 241 qualified negro voters from the polls.

Canada, China Hit Austin Resolution

LAKE SUCCESS, March 3 (AP)—Canada and China blasted today an American attempt to get quick Security Council approval for the Palestine partition plan.

These countries told the United Nations Security Council that the five great powers must make supreme efforts to settle the Palestine question by conciliation.

They made it virtually certain that the council would not approve a resolution pressed by Warren R. Austin, United States chief delegate.

This resolution would put the council definitely on record for partition and would call on the five great powers to consult with Jews, Arabs and British in an effort to reach a settlement for Palestine.

A Belgian substitute is opposed to the United States proposal. It is exactly the same as the United States proposal except that it would knock out the key paragraph committing the council to accept the partition plan approved by the United Nations Assembly last November 29.

Belgium voted for partition last fall but contends that discussions aimed at conciliation are in order.

China, Canada, Syria and Belgium are definitely opposed to the United States resolution and Britain will abstain. Thus the United States plan, which would in reality bring the first test vote on partition in the council, would not obtain the required majority of seven votes out of the 11.

Czech Envoy Resigns; Will Rally "Patriots"

WASHINGTON, March 3. (AP)—Czech Ambassador Juraj Slavik resigned today, announcing he will try to rally Czechoslovakia's "patriots" to oppose the Red regime in his homeland.

(In Ottawa, Dr. Frantisek Nemec, Czech minister to Canada, announced he had resigned together with practically all his staff. He is remaining in Canada.)

"Czechoslovakia has become a fully totalitarian police state," the ambassador told reporters. "President Benes may even now be a prisoner."

While the envoy was announcing his self-exile, workmen started moving his personal effects from the embassy. He and his family will live in a hotel.

British Not Fooling

LONDON, March 3 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today that British ships and officials had been ordered "to take all necessary measure" to safeguard British title to the Falkland Islands dependencies.

Possible Attack On Costa Rican Capital Feared

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 3 (AP)—Col. Juan Jose Tavio, inspector-general of Costa Rican police, said tonight he was expecting an attack on San Jose at any moment.

Tavio said the government opposition—presumably followers of Otilio Ulate Blanco, whose election as president was annulled by Congress—had armed themselves and were preparing the attack from ranches surrounding San Jose.

Late tonight the governor of the federal district of San Jose reported that snipers were firing at water tanks containing the capital's supply. He appealed for troops.

Ulate was in hiding tonight following his release from prison today after he was cleared of charges of complicity in the killing of two customs guards.

Atom Scientists Declare Condon "Smear" Victim

FBI Has No Evidence He's Disloyal To U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) — Atomic scientists rushed to the defense of Dr. Edward U. Condon today, and it was disclosed that an FBI report said there was no evidence Condon was disloyal in his alleged association with a Russian spy suspect.

The chief of the Bureau of Standards was pictured by the Federation of American Scientists as the victim of a "deliberate smear." It assailed a report of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee which had said he mingled with alleged Russian agents.

The House group's chairman, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), conceded today that the report had omitted the favorable reference to Condon in quoting from a letter by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Thomas explained that an investigator had copied only parts of the Hoover letter, and said the subcommittee used all that it had in making its report.

Parts Of Letter "Critical"

"A further check discloses," he said, "that while Hoover did say there was no evidence that Condon had been disloyal in associating with this one individual, the tenor of the rest of the three and a half pages is entirely different. Its tone is certainly critical of Condon and his activities."

Thomas called for full disclosure of the letter by the Department of Commerce, under which Condon works. The subcommittee said the Hoover letter was addressed to the department in confidence last May.

Thomas has said previously that his group has no evidence that Condon is disloyal. But, he added, Condon "has at least been indiscreet."

The Condon case also brought these rapid developments.

1. The Un-American Activities Committee formally subpoenaed the letter and all other records of the department's loyalty investigation of Condon for a committee meeting Friday.

2. Thomas demanded to know why the Commerce Department "required until last Tuesday to reach a decision on Dr. Condon's loyalty, since he has held this highly strategic position for over two years."

Committee Funds Approved

The loyalty board of the department held there was "no reasonable ground" to doubt his loyalty.

3. The subpoena, served on John L. Towne, secretary of the loyalty board, was turned over to a department attorney.

It was assumed this was for consideration of the question whether confidential files of an executive agency are subject to a congressional subpoena. However, in the absence of Secretary of Commerce Harriman, who is on his way back from a vacation, officials refused to comment.

Meanwhile, the Un-American Activities Committee was virtually assured of getting the largest fund in its history.

The sum of $200,000 for the rest of 1948 was approved by the House Administration Committee, subject to the final okay of the House perhaps this week.

Idea Of Agency To Curb Reds Is Challenged

Marshall Requests Funds For Trieste

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) — Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today challenged a proposal to set up a new international agency with power to resist Communism by force of arms.

Questioning whether the measure was constitutional, Vandenberg said on the Senate floor:

"What overwhelms me is the asking of Congress, on 24 hours' notice, to accept a formula which would commit the United States to war on the vote of foreign countries."

Sen. Ball (R-Minn) introduced the measure as an amendment to the $5,300,000,000 Marshall plan bill.

It would set up an 11-member "Supreme Council," outside the United Nations, to resist "subversion" or "aggression." And no country would have veto power.

The amendment was debated during a day filled with foreign aid developments.

Secretary of State Marshall asked Congress for $20,000,000 in economic aid to the British-American zone of Trieste for the 15 months beginning April 1.

British Loan Runs Out

Marshall said in letters to Vandenberg and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the area, which lies between Italy and Yugoslavia, is "not presently able to support itself."

He added that appointment of a governor for the free territory, delayed in the general tangle of disagreement between the Western Powers and Russia, "cannot be relied upon as occurring in the near future."

There were these other developments:

First, Britain's borrowed billions ran out.

The $3,750,000,000 loaned by the United States 19 months ago reached zero, the Treasury announced, with a final $100,000,000 withdrawal.

Bankruptcy, a British government white paper forecast a few days ago, now lies ahead unless new dollar help comes quickly under the Marshall plan.

MacArthur Urges China Aid

Secondly, Gen. Douglas MacArthur messaged the House Foreign Affairs Committee that he couldn't return from Tokyo just now to advise on Chinese aid and other Far Eastern problems.

But he told the committee, which had invited his views, that it should not "underrate" China's needs.

"A free, independent and peaceful, and friendly China is of profound importance to the peace of the world," MacArthur's cable said.

Gen. Claire Channault messaged that he will return from China to discuss the aid question. The administration has asked $570,000,000 in non-military help for China's anti-Communist government.

Thirdly, Secretaries Marshall and Forrestal told the House group there is "grave danger" neither Greece nor Turkey can remain free without more military help from this country.

Netherlands, Belgium Get Loans

And finally, the International Monetary Fund announced loans of $16,500,000 to the Netherlands and $11,000,000 to Belgium.

Two Newsmen Ordered Released From Custody

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 3. (AP)—Two newspapermen jailed for refusing to reveal confidential sources of information to a grand jury tonight were ordered officially released from custody.

The order was issued by State Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Coyne.

The newsmen had been released in custody of their attorneys on a habeas corpus action yesterday. They had served five days of a 10-day jail term.

Milwaukee Labor Leader Is Convicted Of Perjury

WASHINGTON, March 3 — (AP) — Harold Christoffel, Milwaukee labor leader, tonight was convicted of perjury charges by a federal district court.

He was convicted on all counts of a six-count indictment in which he was charged with falsely testifying under oath that he had never been a Communist or been connected with the Communist Party.

The jury was out five hours. Christoffel, without show of emotion, was immediately committed to jail by Judge Edward M. Curran. He had been at liberty on bond. He was led away by United States marshals after the verdict was announced.

Judge Curran granted five days to ask for a new trial. Sentence was deferred until then.

Under the District of Columbia perjury law, Christoffel is subject to a sentence of two to 10 years on each count and no fine. The maximum thus would be 60 years.

Charges against Christoffel arose from statements made on March 1, 1947, to the House Labor Committee studying labor unrest at various plants, including the Milwaukee plant of Allis-Chalmers Company. Christoffel was a former president of a CIO-United Auto Workers Union there.

One count of the indictment was based on his statement that he did not know two men described in testimony as Communist leaders. Government witnesses said he had had frequent meetings with the men.

"Plan" To Blast Railroad Stations, Ferries Disclosed By N. York Police

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP) — A copy of a "plan" to blow up the city's railroad stations, ferries and newspaper plants was disclosed tonight by police.

The "plan" was to have been carried out this afternoon. It came into the possession of police yesterday.

Although police doubted anyone intended to execute any such program, they rushed the word to the supposed danger spots:

Tonight, several hours after the period set for the explosions, Police Commissioner Arthur Wallander released a description of the "plan."

It came, he said, by way of a mail chute and a postal clerk who noticed the loose papers, "evidently torn from a student's notebook."

Ten more men were to ride in from Brooklyn on the Seventh Avenue subway and 27 explosive-laden trucks were to be put aboard the ferries.

Wallander said the plan apparently was the work of a crank—but he put bomb squads and other officers to searching, nevertheless.

Stassen Calls On Truman To Block Steel Price Hike

The Republican presidential aspirant suggested a plan whereby the steel companies would revoke their recently announced price increases for six months with the understanding steel workers would not seek a pay raise during that "moratorium" period.

Stassen urged Mr. Truman to call both Benjamin F. Fairless, head of United States Steel Corporation, and Philip Murray, head of the CIO Steel Workers Union, to the White House for a conference in an attempt to reach such an agreement.

Striking out at the price increase of $4.85 per ton recently announced by the big steel companies, Stassen said:

"This will have both a direct effect on the prices of durable goods and an indirect and psychological effect on wages and all prices."

Stassen said that while the steel companies had tried to justify the price increase by citing rising costs, "they admit that they are making record profits."

Therefore, he said in a speech, "the situation is obviously ripe for the insistent demands for a third round of wage increases which will, in turn, affect all other labor and industry."

Stassen said that both capital and labor must show "some restraint x x x for the general public interest."

Stassen came to this northern mill city in the White Mountains in a last minute swing through New Hampshire — his second within a month — to seek support in the state's presidential preference primary only six days away.

VANDENBERG RAPS "BALL PLAN"

Democratic Party Revolt Brings Echoes In North

MacArthur Endorsed; Tuck OKs Bill Change

Two Massachusetts Democrats, Boston Mayor James M. Curley and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, urged that the party seek to nominate Gen. Douglas MacArthur for the presidency.

Curley was pardoned by Mr. Truman last Thanksgiving after serving five months of a 16 to 18 months' sentence for mail fraud. Ely has split with the Democratic national leadership before.

They gave their views in separate interviews while, in Chicago, the CIO United Auto Workers Executive Board said it would seek the formation of "a genuine progressive political party" after next fall's election.

The board endorsed the national CIO's refusal to support Henry A. Wallace's third party.

MacArthur also was recommended for the presidency by Francis P. Murphy, twice Republican Governor of New Hampshire and Democratic national committeeman from the Bay State in 1944.

Some leading Republicans have sounded out the General to see if he would accept their party's nomination. He hasn't said he would. But in reply to a recent GOP questionnaire he praised the Republican Party as the one which had never departed from the principle that "all political power resides in the people."

Tuck Okays Bill Revision

In Virginia, Gov. Tuck okayed a complete revision by the Legislature of a bill, proposed by him, which would have barred Mr. Truman's name from the November state ballot.

The revised bill, however, still requires Virginia's presidential electors to vote as the state party conventions decide.

Thus the 11 votes of solidly Democratic Virginia could be cast in the electoral college for some candidate other than the President.

Similar moves are under consideration in other southern states where Democrats are fighting Mr. Truman's anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and other "civil rights" recommendations.

In Nebraska, the name of Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) was formally entered in the forthcoming presidential preference primary election. Vandenberg asked that he be left off the ballot but did not say flatly that he would refuse the nomination.

Ely gave his views in an interview while Southern Democrats pressed their campaign to prevent Mr. Truman's nomination for the presidency.

And some politicians saw a move in the same direction in a radio speech last night by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo). His title was: "If I Were President". He said Mr. Truman had failed to bring about national unity.

Whether or not the seeds of southern revolt were taking root elsewhere in the country, candidates stepped up their campaign for the Republican presidential nod.

Stassen In New Hampshire

Former Gov. Stassen, of Minnesota, began a two-day swing through New Hampshire, telling his first audience that the United States must take "real leadership" in world affairs.

Dewey, his supporters said, will make a supreme bid in New Hampshire and in primaries April 6 in Wisconsin and May 21 in Oregon.

27 Others Injured In Haifa Explosion

JERUSALEM, March 3 (AP) — A truck laden with 400 pounds of explosives blasted a seven-story Arab building in Haifa today, killing 14 Arabs and injuring 27.

The violence coincided with the arrival here of the first representatives of the United Nations Commission which will attempt to work out partition of the Holy Land.

Six members of the commission secretariat moved into a private apartment in the area of the King David Hotel, under heavy police guard. They were taken in armored cars to their barbed wire enclosed residence.

The Jewish Stern Gang claimed it was responsible for the Haifa blast. The explosion gutted the seven-story Salameh building and damaged others for four blocks along Stanton Street, a mixed Jewish and Arab section. One of the damaged buildings was the district police headquarters. The blast crumpled in the front half of a building across the street. The Salameh structure houses the Arab section of the government welfare office.

A Stern Gang communique said the Salameh building was the Haifa district headquarters for an Arab military group under the direction of Syrian and Iraqi officers. A police official said the statement was "nonsense," and that until recently the building, one of the city's tallest, had been used as a British army observation post.

It was the Stern Gang that claimed responsibility for the blowing up of the troop train near Rehovot Sunday that killed 28 British soldiers.

Police said many children were among today's blast victims.

Eyewitnesses said two army-type trucks came up the street prior to the explosion. The driver of the lead truck, in Arab dress, parked it at the Salameh building and got into the second truck.

The escort truck, which carried four men in uniform, drove off and a short time later the explosion occurred.

Army bulldozers and rescue workers dug into the litter of rock and plaster in their search for victims. Two of the dead were Arab policemen who were walking nearby.

Other incidents in Palestine today took the lives of six more Arabs and three Jews. The unofficial death toll since the November 29 decision of the United Nations to partition Palestine reached 1,562.

Folsom Asserts Politics Behind Divorcee's Suit

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) —Alabama's Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom declared today that politics lay behind court suits which ask that he be declared the common law husband of a red-haired divorcee and the father of her 22-month-old son.

The suits were filed in Cullman, Ala., yesterday on behalf of Christine Putman Folsom, also known as Mrs. Christine Johnston, and her baby son, James Douglas.

"I am in a political campaign in Alabama. I have had to face this type of tactics in other campaigns. That is all I have to say on that subject."

Parole Inquiry "Gag" Is Charged

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) accused the Justice Department today of putting "an iron curtain" in the way of his House committee's investigation of the paroling of four former Al Capone gangsters.

Attorney General Tom Clark hotly denied it. He also said if the committee turns up "any evidence that warrants an indictment, you can bet your bottom dollar there will be one."

Hoffman said individuals in the FBI and the Internal Revenue Bureau have told him, "We can give you plenty of information if you'll just get the gag off."

"I have no gag on anyone, in or out of the department," retorted Clark.

Hoffman's committee is trying to learn whether there was any "bribery or corruption" in the paroling of the ex-mobsters.

Maury Hughes, a Dallas lawyer who described himself as a lifelong friend of Clark, testified yesterday that he obtained dismissal of a mail fraud indictment against the four men.

Hughes said he was paid $15,000 by a man called Mike Ryan for getting the indictment quashed, thus paving the way for the four men's parole.

Clark said today he is prevented by law from giving certain confidential information to the committee. Moreover, he said, he is unwilling to disclose anything that would jeopardize pending or future prosecutions.

Finnish Leaders Delay Views On Proposed Pact

HELSINKI, March 3—(AP)—Most Finnish government leaders clung to their hesitancy tonight about hurrying into negotiations with the Soviet Union for a military pact against Germany.

They held to this attitude despite the reported impatience of President Juho Paasikivi over Parliament's delay in giving him its views on the subject.

Throughout the day the President was in almost constant consultation with his closest advisers.

It was reliably understood that much of the discussion revolved around the question of whether a defense pact against Germany was needed at this time. The view was offered that there is no possibility of German aggression in the foreseeable future.

CIO Packing Plant Union Calls Strike

Nationwide Walkout Scheduled March 16

CHICAGO, March 3—(AP)—A CIO union called a nationwide strike of its 100,000 meat packing plant workers today for March 16.

The strike of CIO United Packinghouse Workers was directed against Armour and Company, Cudahy Packing Company, Swift and Company, Wilson and Company, John Morrell and Company, Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation and other independent companies throughout the nation. The union called it to enforce demands for a 29 cents an hour wage increase.

A strike would cut the nation's consumer meat supply about in half, with the East feeling the pinch more than other sections, industry sources said. A shortage of fresh meat cuts would hit the average household within a few days after any work stoppage.

AFL Union Won Increases

The AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America already have signed an agreement covering 40,000 packing plant workers. They were granted wage boosts of nine cents an hour with the right to reopen the wage question in June.

Patrick E. Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the AFL union, said his members are "well satisfied" with their contract and will remain on the job.

Both the CIO and AFL meat packing plant workers unions struck two years ago, tying up most production for several days. The strike ended after the government seized the strikebound plants.

Ralph Helstein, president of the CIO union, said the strike is set for 12:01 a. m. March 16. He added:

"We are willing to continue negotiating with the companies, although it is apparent from our previous meetings that they are unwilling to give any realistic consideration to the serious economic needs of the packinghouse workers."

East Will Be Hit Hardest

Helstein said two thirds of the union's members earned less than $1.10 an hour and that "since 1939 the big companies have increased their profits well over 300 per cent while their stockholders enjoyed a 24 per cent return on their investment before tax deductions. x x x This is a sordid contrast to the living conditions forced upon their employes by inadequate wage rates."

Packers said the East would feel the most severe effects of any meat strike because meat is processed in the Midwest and West and shipped East. When supplies are low, they said, meat usually is consumed in greater quantity in the area in which it is processed.

GOVERNMENT SCRAPS "FEATHER-BEDDING" PHASE OF ITU CASE

INDIANAPOLIS, March 3—(AP)—Government attorneys, in a hurry for action, cut down today the scope of an injunction they are seeking against the International Typographical Union.

They voluntarily threw overboard the so-called "feather-bedding" phase of the case.

In more legal language, the office of Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the national Labor Relations Board, is no longer asking Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert to prevent the ITU from causing newspaper publishers to pay money for services which are not performed.

But, Denham is still charging the union with that Taft-Hartley Act violation in his companion case pending before an NLRB trial examiner. The charge is in connection with a long-standing ITU rule that certain newspaper ads must be set in type locally, even if the newspaper has received the ads, already prepared, from another city. The union has denied this rule violates the law.

Negro Nominated

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP) — The Progressive (Wallace) Party of Maryland announced today its nomination of a negro physician for the Fourth Congressional seat now held by Representative Fallon (D-Md.)

"Irregularities" In Surplus Property Sales In China Charged At McCabe Probe

All News To Him, FRB Nominee Says

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—A probe into the fitness of Thomas B. McCabe for a Federal Reserve Board post today turned into a barrage of charges that surplus property sales in China were badly handled.

McCabe is President Truman's choice for head of the board. If he is confirmed by the Senate, he will succeed Marriner S. Eccles. The Senate Banking Committee is checking on his record.

Sen. Tobey (R-NH) said he wants to (1) investigate McCabe's fitness for the job, and (2) find out what led Mr. Truman to demote Eccles to the vice chairmanship.

In a 10,000-word statement, Tobey said McCabe, while head of the war surplus sales abroad, ordered 11 nearly-new B-25 bombers destroyed.

He said this was to "forestall bad publicity" as a result of their sale to a private Chinese firm.

Today, McCabe said this was all news to him.

"Irregularities" Listed

Hubert R. Moody, a member of the staff of the Senate Expenditures Committee, testified that a long series of "serious irregularities" took place in surplus property transactions in China while McCabe was foreign liquidation commissioner.

He listed:

1. Sale of 151 planes for $500,000 as compared with an established world price of $2,730,000.

2. Inclusion, contrary to United States policy, of 11 B-25 bombers in this sale. He said they were destroyed to avert publicity, and that another B-25 which was not surplus was inadvertently destroyed also.

3. Charging other buyers, including the United States Relief and Rehabilitation Agency, more for surplus property than the Chinese government was charged.

Moody did not link McCabe directly with the charges, but he said McCabe was in China while they were investigated.

"Violation of Law"

Moody said when he called McCabe's attention to irregularities McCabe said Johnson's "weakness was poor public relations."

Moody said he replied it was "not bad press relations but outright violations of the law."

He said Johnson dismissed a subordinate because he protested the sale of blood plasma and drugs which later found their way to the Chinese black market, persisted in turning over property to the Chinese without contracts, cancelled a contract to sell sheet steel to American oil companies after half the $95,000 purchase price had been

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., March 3 (AP)—Only one negro approached the polls here today and even he didn't vote after the Ku Klux Klan had raised the spectre of a return to the days of Civil War reconstruction.

Before the polls opened for the Johnson County Democratic primary this morning, the Ku Klux Klan had staged a night parade around the county courthouse and a speech-making.

But City Judge W. C. Brinson said he didn't believe the Klan affair had anything to do with the absence of the city's 241 qualified negro voters from the polls.

Canada, China Hit Austin Resolution

LAKE SUCCESS, March 3 (AP)—Canada and China blasted today an American attempt to get quick Security Council approval for the Palestine partition plan.

These countries told the United Nations Security Council that the five great powers must make supreme efforts to settle the Palestine question by conciliation.

They made it virtually certain that the council would not approve a resolution pressed by Warren R. Austin, United States chief delegate.

This resolution would put the council definitely on record for partition and would call on the five great powers to consult with Jews, Arabs and British in an effort to reach a settlement for Palestine.

A Belgian substitute is opposed to the United States proposal. It is exactly the same as the United States proposal except that it would knock out the key paragraph committing the council to accept the partition plan approved by the United Nations Assembly last November 29.

Belgium voted for partition last fall but contends that discussions aimed at conciliation are in order.

China, Canada, Syria and Belgium are definitely opposed to the United States resolution and Britain will abstain. Thus the United States plan, which would in reality bring the first test vote on partition in the council, would not obtain the required majority of seven votes out of the 11.

Czech Envoy Resigns; Will Rally "Patriots"

WASHINGTON, March 3. (AP)—Czech Ambassador Juraj Slavik resigned today, announcing he will try to rally Czechoslovakia's "patriots" to oppose the Red regime in his homeland.

(In Ottawa, Dr. Frantisek Nemec, Czech minister to Canada, announced he had resigned together with practically all his staff. He is remaining in Canada.)

"Czechoslovakia has become a fully totalitarian police state," the ambassador told reporters. "President Benes may even now be a prisoner."

While the envoy was announcing his self-exile, workmen started moving his personal effects from the embassy. He and his family will live in a hotel.

British Not Fooling

LONDON, March 3 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today that British ships and officials had been ordered "to take all necessary measure" to safeguard British title to the Falkland Islands dependencies.

Possible Attack On Costa Rican Capital Feared

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 3 (AP)—Col. Juan Jose Tavio, inspector-general of Costa Rican police, said tonight he was expecting an attack on San Jose at any moment.

Tavio said the government opposition—presumably followers of Otilio Ulate Blanco, whose election as president was annulled by Congress—had armed themselves and were preparing the attack from ranches surrounding San Jose.

Late tonight the governor of the federal district of San Jose reported that snipers were firing at water tanks containing the capital's supply. He appealed for troops.

Ulate was in hiding tonight following his release from prison today after he was cleared of charges of complicity in the killing of two customs guards.

Atom Scientists Declare Condon "Smear" Victim

FBI Has No Evidence He's Disloyal To U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) — Atomic scientists rushed to the defense of Dr. Edward U. Condon today, and it was disclosed that an FBI report said there was no evidence Condon was disloyal in his alleged association with a Russian spy suspect.

The chief of the Bureau of Standards was pictured by the Federation of American Scientists as the victim of a "deliberate smear." It assailed a report of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee which had said he mingled with alleged Russian agents.

The House group's chairman, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), conceded today that the report had omitted the favorable reference to Condon in quoting from a letter by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Thomas explained that an investigator had copied only parts of the Hoover letter, and said the subcommittee used all that it had in making its report.

Parts Of Letter "Critical"

"A further check discloses," he said, "that while Hoover did say there was no evidence that Condon had been disloyal in associating with this one individual, the tenor of the rest of the three and a half pages is entirely different. Its tone is certainly critical of Condon and his activities."

Thomas called for full disclosure of the letter by the Department of Commerce, under which Condon works. The subcommittee said the Hoover letter was addressed to the department in confidence last May.

Thomas has said previously that his group has no evidence that Condon is disloyal. But, he added, Condon "has at least been indiscreet."

The Condon case also brought these rapid developments.

1. The Un-American Activities Committee formally subpoenaed the letter and all other records of the department's loyalty investigation of Condon for a committee meeting Friday.

2. Thomas demanded to know why the Commerce Department "required until last Tuesday to reach a decision on Dr. Condon's loyalty, since he has held this highly strategic position for over two years."

Committee Funds Approved

The loyalty board of the department held there was "no reasonable ground" to doubt his loyalty.

3. The subpoena, served on John L. Towne, secretary of the loyalty board, was turned over to a department attorney.

It was assumed this was for consideration of the question whether confidential files of an executive agency are subject to a congressional subpoena. However, in the absence of Secretary of Commerce Harriman, who is on his way back from a vacation, officials refused to comment.

Meanwhile, the Un-American Activities Committee was virtually assured of getting the largest fund in its history.

The sum of $200,000 for the rest of 1948 was approved by the House Administration Committee, subject to the final okay of the House perhaps this week.

Idea Of Agency To Curb Reds Is Challenged

Marshall Requests Funds For Trieste

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP) — Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today challenged a proposal to set up a new international agency with power to resist Communism by force of arms.

Questioning whether the measure was constitutional, Vandenberg said on the Senate floor:

"What overwhelms me is the asking of Congress, on 24 hours' notice, to accept a formula which would commit the United States to war on the vote of foreign countries."

Sen. Ball (R-Minn) introduced the measure as an amendment to the $5,300,000,000 Marshall plan bill.

It would set up an 11-member "Supreme Council," outside the United Nations, to resist "subversion" or "aggression." And no country would have veto power.

The amendment was debated during a day filled with foreign aid developments.

Secretary of State Marshall asked Congress for $20,000,000 in economic aid to the British-American zone of Trieste for the 15 months beginning April 1.

British Loan Runs Out

Marshall said in letters to Vandenberg and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the area, which lies between Italy and Yugoslavia, is "not presently able to support itself."

He added that appointment of a governor for the free territory, delayed in the general tangle of disagreement between the Western Powers and Russia, "cannot be relied upon as occurring in the near future."

There were these other developments:

First, Britain's borrowed billions ran out.

The $3,750,000,000 loaned by the United States 19 months ago reached zero, the Treasury announced, with a final $100,000,000 withdrawal.

Bankruptcy, a British government white paper forecast a few days ago, now lies ahead unless new dollar help comes quickly under the Marshall plan.

MacArthur Urges China Aid

Secondly, Gen. Douglas MacArthur messaged the House Foreign Affairs Committee that he couldn't return from Tokyo just now to advise on Chinese aid and other Far Eastern problems.

But he told the committee, which had invited his views, that it should not "underrate" China's needs.

"A free, independent and peaceful, and friendly China is of profound importance to the peace of the world," MacArthur's cable said.

Gen. Claire Channault messaged that he will return from China to discuss the aid question. The administration has asked $570,000,000 in non-military help for China's anti-Communist government.

Thirdly, Secretaries Marshall and Forrestal told the House group there is "grave danger" neither Greece nor Turkey can remain free without more military help from this country.

Netherlands, Belgium Get Loans

And finally, the International Monetary Fund announced loans of $16,500,000 to the Netherlands and $11,000,000 to Belgium.

Two Newsmen Ordered Released From Custody

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 3. (AP)—Two newspapermen jailed for refusing to reveal confidential sources of information to a grand jury tonight were ordered officially released from custody.

The order was issued by State Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Coyne.

The newsmen had been released in custody of their attorneys on a habeas corpus action yesterday. They had served five days of a 10-day jail term.

Milwaukee Labor Leader Is Convicted Of Perjury

WASHINGTON, March 3 — (AP) — Harold Christoffel, Milwaukee labor leader, tonight was convicted of perjury charges by a federal district court.

He was convicted on all counts of a six-count indictment in which he was charged with falsely testifying under oath that he had never been a Communist or been connected with the Communist Party.

The jury was out five hours. Christoffel, without show of emotion, was immediately committed to jail by Judge Edward M. Curran. He had been at liberty on bond. He was led away by United States marshals after the verdict was announced.

Judge Curran granted five days to ask for a new trial. Sentence was deferred until then.

Under the District of Columbia perjury law, Christoffel is subject to a sentence of two to 10 years on each count and no fine. The maximum thus would be 60 years.

Charges against Christoffel arose from statements made on March 1, 1947, to the House Labor Committee studying labor unrest at various plants, including the Milwaukee plant of Allis-Chalmers Company. Christoffel was a former president of a CIO-United Auto Workers Union there.

One count of the indictment was based on his statement that he did not know two men described in testimony as Communist leaders. Government witnesses said he had had frequent meetings with the men.

"Plan" To Blast Railroad Stations, Ferries Disclosed By N. York Police

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP) — A copy of a "plan" to blow up the city's railroad stations, ferries and newspaper plants was disclosed tonight by police.

The "plan" was to have been carried out this afternoon. It came into the possession of police yesterday.

Although police doubted anyone intended to execute any such program, they rushed the word to the supposed danger spots:

Tonight, several hours after the period set for the explosions, Police Commissioner Arthur Wallander released a description of the "plan."

It came, he said, by way of a mail chute and a postal clerk who noticed the loose papers, "evidently torn from a student's notebook."

Ten more men were to ride in from Brooklyn on the Seventh Avenue subway and 27 explosive-laden trucks were to be put aboard the ferries.

Wallander said the plan apparently was the work of a crank—but he put bomb squads and other officers to searching, nevertheless.

Stassen Calls On Truman To Block Steel Price Hike

The Republican presidential aspirant suggested a plan whereby the steel companies would revoke their recently announced price increases for six months with the understanding steel workers would not seek a pay raise during that "moratorium" period.

Stassen urged Mr. Truman to call both Benjamin F. Fairless, head of United States Steel Corporation, and Philip Murray, head of the CIO Steel Workers Union, to the White House for a conference in an attempt to reach such an agreement.

Striking out at the price increase of $4.85 per ton recently announced by the big steel companies, Stassen said:

"This will have both a direct effect on the prices of durable goods and an indirect and psychological effect on wages and all prices."

Stassen said that while the steel companies had tried to justify the price increase by citing rising costs, "they admit that they are making record profits."

Therefore, he said in a speech, "the situation is obviously ripe for the insistent demands for a third round of wage increases which will, in turn, affect all other labor and industry."

Stassen said that both capital and labor must show "some restraint x x x for the general public interest."

Stassen came to this northern mill city in the White Mountains in a last minute swing through New Hampshire — his second within a month — to seek support in the state's presidential preference primary only six days away.

But he added there was "coercion" in getting Parks to sign the pact and that the actor "knew he couldn't get the lead in 'The Jolson Story' unless he signed."

Plugging Of Tax Loopholes Asked

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—The Treasury recommended today that Congress plug "loopholes" through which it is said market speculators are able to avoid income tax.

At present, it said, speculators can make sales which produce "fictitious losses to offset real gains" in the value of their holdings, thus trimming their taxes.

The principal change would deny any recognition for tax purposes to gains or losses in value of holdings during any period when the trader holds both long and short positions in the same or similar securities or commodities.

A trader who is "long" has bought for future delivery. If he is "short" he has sold for future delivery.

The Treasury also asked Congress to let it quit making public lists of persons paid more than $75,000 a year by corporations. It has been doing so under laws passed during the Roosevelt administration.

These are among 63 changes in tax laws the Treasury has proposed to congressional tax committees, Undersecretary A. Lee Wiggins told a news conference.

Wiggins said most of the proposals are for "technical" changes aimed at correcting "inequities" or "eliminating uncertainties" in present tax laws.

The Treasury's proposals were made public while the Senate Finance Committee was hearing pleas for equally varied changes in tax laws.

Idea Of Agency

critics of the Marshall plan. Cosponsors were Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska; Hawkes, of New Jersey, and Cain, of Washington.

Ball said Russia could become a member of the proposed new agency—but he and the others made it plain they did not expect the Soviets would consent to the no-veto rule.

If Russia wouldn't come in, he declared, "it is high time that the rest of the nations that want security and independence get together and do something."

At a State Department news conference, Undersecretary of State Lovett was asked for administration views on the Ball proposal. He said that it could be assumed the State Department is considering the problems of Western Europe from all possible viewpoints. He would not comment specifically on the question of some form of regional security arrangement.

Woman Guilty Of Telling Girl To Set House Afire

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 3 (AP)—Mrs. Helen J. Lock, 42, Jessup, was found guilty tonight of having an 11-year-old girl set fire to a neighbor's house three times.

Judge James Clark, who heard the case without a jury in Anne Arundel County Court, said "I want to know more about this thing before sentence is passed."

Attorney Edward G. Chaney, a defense counsel, said he had no objection to Judge Clark's suggestion that Mrs. Lock be examined by a doctor.

Blonde Louise Morrison, a frail little girl, testified she set fire to the house of Mrs. Rose Sellner because Mrs. Lock wanted to see it destroyed.

While the house was being rebuilt, Louise said she set it afire twice again.

Foreclosures Predicted If Vets Refuse To Pay

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP) — Robert A. Bready, president of the Home Builders Association of Maryland, said today that the mass refusal of Baltimore ex-GIs to continue payments on their new homes "can only lead to mass foreclosures."

Almost 1,900 ex-servicemen have informed lending agencies they will not make further principal payments on mortgages until their homes are repaired. They contend that builders did not build the homes according to specification or that workmanship was bad.

Salisbury, Md., To Have Daylight Saving Time

SALISBURY, Md., March 3. (AP)—This Eastern Shore town has taken an early stand in the daylight saving time war that is sure to bedevil Maryland next month.

Salisbury will have it, starting at 2 a. m. April 25.

The Mayor and Council adopted a "fast time" ordinance without a dissenting vote.

Alleged Alien Communist Wins Release On Bond

NEW YORK, March 3. (AP)—Irving Potash, furriers' union leader charged with being an alien Communist, today was released from Ellis Island in $5,000 bail.

Potash became the first of five alleged alien Communists to secure such release pending deportation proceedings. The men have been on what they described as a hunger strike in an attempt to obtain action.

Federal Judge William Bondy allowed Potash to leave the island under bail while he appealed dismissal of a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release.

Tait Favors Equal Representation Of Both Parties On Election Boards

Machines Lose Less Votes, Walsh Reports

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP)—Equal representation of both parties on boards of election supervisors was recommended to a Legislative Council committee today by Galen Tait, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

He also proposed strengthening of Maryland's Corrupt Practices Act and suggested that political financial reports be made subject, by petition, to approval of the courts.

Tait was one of a number of witnesses called before the Legislative Council's Committee on Corrupt Practices and Elections. The group is headed by Sen. Stromberg (D-Howard).

At the outset of the hearing, Stromberg observed that the committee would "certainly recommend" the use of voting machines throughout the state.

He read a letter from William C. Walsh, former Maryland Attorney General, noting that experience in the recount of ballots cast in the O'Conor-Markey contested senatorial election indicated that nearly 5½ per cent of paper ballots were invalidated, while only three-tenths of one per cent of the machine-cast votes were lost.

Walsh, who was prevented by business from appearing before the committee, said he was unable to discuss details of the recount since as counsel to one of the parties he had been pledged to silence until the senatorial committee completes the investigation.

Tait devoted much of his discussion to the election supervisors, saying that "the present factional method of selecting local precinct judges and clerks of the election is a shame to the state."

He condemned the present system under which election boards consist of two men belonging to the majority and one belonging to the minority party.

He further proposed that the percentage of voters needed to get a third party on the ballots be increased from the present 10 per cent.

The other convention dates: Illinois, April 9; Missouri, April 11; Connecticut, April 3; New Jersey, April 24; Wisconsin, April 25; and Louisiana, May 15.

paid and later sold it to the Chinese for only $20,000.

He said court-martial plans against Johnson were dropped because it would upset the political situation, and there were not enough officers present.

Later, Moody said, Johnson "was allowed to resign" but re-entered the service and is still "a transportation officer in Tokyo."

Tobey recessed the hearing when Moody completed his testimony. He said McCabe will be given a chance to make a statement, probably next Wednesday.

Convention Discussed

Members of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, discussed the Eastern Division convention and received reports at the meeting Tuesday night at Girl Scout headquarters. The convention will be held in Baltimore May 1-2. The reports were given by Mrs. Harry Bowman, Miss Ruth Berry and Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie.

The cultural program consisted of "Debates," given by Mrs. John H. Pfeiffer assisted by Mrs. Bowman, after which Mrs. Byron Bonebrake and Miss Cathleen Turner debated "The New Look," with the former speaking against the new styles and the latter favoring them. Mrs. Regina Mason took the affirmative in a debate of "Venturing Into Real Estate in 1948," and Mrs. McKenzie the negative.

Mrs. Pfeiffer and Mrs. Richard Gordon were in charge of the social hour.

Standard Oil's Appeal To High Court Opposed

WASHINGTON, March 3. (AP)—The Justice Department contended today that four Standard oil companies have turned to the Supreme Court with "unclean hands" in an attempt to recover title to valuable patents of German origin now held by the United States government.

Opposing Standard's appeal to the court, Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman asserted that the companies engaged in "sham transactions" to conceal and to prevent the wartime seizure of assets in this country allegedly owned by Germany's I. G. Farbenindustrie.

The case involves the seizure by the United States alien property custodian early in the war of several hundred oil and chemical patents and various blocks of stock in American corporations which the custodian declared to be Farben-owned.

Plugging Of Tax Loopholes Asked

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—The Treasury recommended today that Congress plug "loopholes" through which it is said market speculators are able to avoid income tax.

At present, it said, speculators can make sales which produce "fictitious losses to offset real gains" in the value of their holdings, thus trimming their taxes.

The principal change would deny any recognition for tax purposes to gains or losses in value of holdings during any period when the trader holds both long and short positions in the same or similar securities or commodities.

A trader who is "long" has bought for future delivery. If he is "short" he has sold for future delivery.

The Treasury also asked Congress to let it quit making public lists of persons paid more than $75,000 a year by corporations. It has been doing so under laws passed during the Roosevelt administration.

These are among 63 changes in tax laws the Treasury has proposed to congressional tax committees. Undersecretary A. Lee Wiggins told a news conference.

Wiggins said most of the proposals are for "technical" changes aimed at correcting "inequities" or "eliminating uncertainties" in present tax laws.

The Treasury's proposals were made public while the Senate Finance Committee was hearing pleas for equally varied changes in tax laws.

In the committee the highlight fell on a proposal from Sen. Kem (R-Mo) to lighten the federal tax on personal earnings.

Idea Of Agency

critics of the Marshall plan. Co-sponsors were Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska; Hawkes, of New Jersey, and Cain, of Washington.

Ball said Russia could become a member of the proposed new agency—but he and the others made it plain they did not expect the Soviets would consent to the no-veto rule.

If Russia wouldn't come in, he declared, "it is high time that the rest of the nations that want security and independence get together and do something."

At a State Department news conference, Undersecretary of State Lovett was asked for administration views on the Ball proposal. He said that it could be assumed the State Department is considering the problems of Western Europe from all possible viewpoints. He would not comment specifically on the question of some form of regional security arrangement.

Woman Guilty Of Telling Girl To Set House Afire

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 3 (AP)—Mrs. Helen J. Lock, 42, Jessup, was found guilty tonight of having an 11-year-old girl set fire to a neighbor's house three times.

Judge James Clark, who heard the case without a jury in Anne Arundel County Court, said "I want to know more about this thing before sentence is passed."

Attorney Edward G. Chaney, a defense counsel, said he had no objection to Judge Clark's suggestion that Mrs. Lock be examined by a doctor.

Blonde Louise Morrison, a frail little girl, testified she set fire to the house of Mrs. Rose Sellner because Mrs. Lock wanted to see it destroyed.

While the house was being rebuilt, Louise said she set it afire twice again.

Foreclosures Predicted If Vets Refuse To Pay

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP) — Robert A. Bready, president of the Home Builders Association of Maryland, said today that the mass refusal of Baltimore ex-GIs to continue payments on their new homes "can only lead to mass foreclosures."

Almost 1,900 ex-servicemen have informed lending agencies they will not make further principal payments on mortgages until their homes are repaired. They contend that builders did not build the homes according to specification or that workmanship was bad.

Salisbury, Md., To Have Daylight Saving Time

SALISBURY, Md., March 3. (AP)—This Eastern Shore town has taken an early stand in the daylight saving time war that is sure to bedevil Maryland next month.

Salisbury will have it, starting at 2 a. m. April 25.

The Mayor and Council adopted a "fast time" ordinance without a dissenting vote.

Alleged Alien Communist Wins Release On Bond

NEW YORK, March 3. (AP)—Irving Potash, furriers' union leader charged with being an alien Communist, today was released from Ellis Island in $5,000 bail.

Potash became the first of five alleged alien Communists to secure such release pending deportation proceedings. The men have been on what they described as a hunger strike in an attempt to obtain action.

Federal Judge William Bondy allowed Potash to leave the island under bail while he appealed dismissal of a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release.

Tait Favors Equal Representation Of Both Parties On Election Boards

Machines Lose Less Votes, Walsh Reports

BALTIMORE, March 3 (AP)—Equal representation of both parties on boards of election supervisors was recommended to a Legislative Council committee today by Galen Tait, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

He also proposed strengthening of Maryland's Corrupt Practices Act and suggested that political financial reports be made subject, by petition, to approval of the courts.

Tait was one of a number of witnesses called before the Legislative Council's Committee on Corrupt Practices and Elections. The group is headed by Sen. Stromberg (D-Howard).

At the outset of the hearing, Stromberg observed that the committee would "certainly recommend" the use of voting machines throughout the state.

He read a letter from William C. Walsh, former Maryland Attorney General, noting that experience in the recount of ballots cast in the O'Conor-Markey contested senatorial election indicated that nearly 5½ per cent of paper ballots were invalidated, while only three-tenths of one per cent of the machine-cast votes were lost.

Walsh, who was prevented by business from appearing before the committee, said he was unable to discuss details of the recount since as counsel to one of the parties he had been pledged to silence until the senatorial committee completes the investigation.

Tait devoted much of his discussion to the election supervisors, saying that "the present factional method of selecting local precinct judges and clerks of the election is a shame to the state."

He condemned the present system under which election boards consist of two men belonging to the majority and one belonging to the minority party.

He further proposed that the percentage of voters needed to get a third party on the ballots be increased from the present 10 per cent.

Meanwhile seven state conventions were scheduled to establish formal third party support for Henry A. Wallace in his independent bid for the White House.

Wallace himself, his headquarters announced, will be the keynote speaker at the first convention, to be held in York, Pa., March 7.

The other convention dates: Illinois, April 9; Missouri, April 11; Connecticut, April 3; New Jersey, April 24; Wisconsin, April 25; and Louisiana, May 15.

paid and later sold it to the Chinese for only $20,000.

He said court-martial plans against Johnson were dropped because it would upset the political situation, and there were not enough officers present.

Later, Moody said, Johnson "was allowed to resign" but re-entered the service and is still "a transportation officer in Tokyo."

Tobey recessed the hearing when Moody completed his testimony. He said McCabe will be given a chance to make a statement, probably next Wednesday.

Convention Discussed

Members of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, discussed the Eastern Division convention and received reports at the meeting Tuesday night at Girl Scout headquarters. The convention will be held in Baltimore May 1-2. The reports were given by Mrs. Harry Bowman, Miss Ruth Berry and Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie.

The cultural program consisted of "Debates," given by Mrs. John H. Pfeiffer assisted by Mrs. Bowman, after which Mrs. Byron Bonebrake and Miss Cathleen Turner debated "The New Look," with the former speaking against the new styles and the latter favoring them. Mrs. Regina Mason took the affirmative in a debate of "Venturing Into Real Estate in 1948," and Mrs. McKenzie the negative.

Mrs. Pfeiffer and Mrs. Richard Gordon were in charge of the social hour.

Standard Oil's Appeal To High Court Opposed

WASHINGTON, March 3. (AP)—The Justice Department contended today that four Standard oil companies have turned to the Supreme Court with "unclean hands" in an attempt to recover title to valuable patents of German origin now held by the United States government.

Opposing Standard's appeal to the court, Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman asserted that the companies engaged in "sham transactions" to conceal and to prevent the wartime seizure of assets in this country allegedly owned by Germany's I. G. Farbenindustrie.

The case involves the seizure by the United States alien property custodian early in the war of several hundred oil and chemical patents and various blocks of stock in American corporations which the custodian declared to be Farben-owned.

The only business places advertising in 1870 that are operating today under the same firm name are the S. T. Little Jewelry Co. and McKaig's Foundry. The latter still retained the name of Beall's Foundry but carried the name of W. W. McKaig and Son as owners. The ad of this foundry carried an amazing list of products: — wrought and cast iron railings; cast iron carriage racks; brass castings, whistles, steam gauges, valves and cocks; steam engines and boilers; railroad supplies; mining and railroad cars; egg stoves; cast grates and furnaces; saw mills and parts; plows of all kinds; tools; gearing; pulleys and many other articles.

The Primary Election Results In Cumberland

Forty per cent of the citizens of Cumberland who were entitled to vote in Tuesday's primary election have nominated candidates for mayor and city councilmen, and for whom they and the 60 per cent of stay-at-home voters will be expected to cast their ballots at the general election on March 16.

One candidate for mayor and thirteen for councilmen were eliminated in Tuesday's contest. As was generally conceded, the four incumbent city commissioners were renominated, two by slim margins, while two finished the first skirmish of the city campaign in first and second places.

Mayor Post's showing in the primary was, undoubtedly, a disappointment to him and to those who supported his candidacy. The outcome of the second round in the battle for votes to retain his position as city executive cannot, of course, be known, but his chances of success certainly cannot be too encouraging to his friends.

He suffered a distinct loss of political prestige in the South End where, heretofore, he had shown much strength and where he had expected to hold that advantage in this contest. He not only failed in this but lost his home precinct to the candidate he must fight it out with in the general election campaign.

While not a stranger in politics, having been a candidate for the Maryland General Assembly from Allegany county, F. Allan Weatherholt did make his first bid for political honors in a city campaign when he aspired for the mayorship. Although failing of the nomination, Mr. Weatherholt showed surprising strength, and when it is considered that he made his fight with little, if any, organization support, the vote his candidacy received must be most gratifying to him and his friends.

The vote-drawing power displayed by Roy W. Eves in his first venture into the political arena was not entirely unexpected. While the strength shown will stand him in good stead as he enters the second heat of his campaign for mayor, it might be considered as a further demonstration of the first rule in a free democratic country, or city, as in this case, that the pendulum of public opinion keeps swinging, first one way and then another. Certainly, his outstanding victory at the polls strengthens the belief that he is the choice of the people.

So the die has been cast. It is expected that the campaign from now until the general election, less than two weeks off, will be a spirited one with every candidate endeavoring to retain or improve his chances of election.

Additional interest, in addition to the candidates and what they might say, will be thrown into the campaign by the appearance on the ballot of two referendums—one providing for increases in the salaries of the mayor and the city councilmen, and one giving the city authority to issue bonds up to the amount of $150,000 for a recreational and playground program. These are expected to be subjects of much argument, and candidates will be called upon to reiterate their stand on the issues. Both should receive thoughtful consideration by the voters before they go to the polls on Tuesday, March 16.

Red Cross Fund Drive Should Go Over The Top

The Red Cross fund campaign in Allegany county, which will come to a close with what workers hope will be a victory dinner Monday night, should receive the financial support of every person as tribute to this organization's outstanding humanitarian activities through the years.

The work of the Red Cross is never confined to any one emergency. It has won distinction in war and in peace, lending a hand to all who might become victims of whatever type of disaster strikes. During wars Red Cross workers give comfort to servicemen on battlefields and to their families miles away. This work is continued when peace comes through constant contact with those in the veterans' hospitals. They provide entertainment for the confined and provide, through recruiting campaigns, blood donors to speed the recovery of the ill and hurt. It all plays a major role in the rehabilitation of servicemen.

The various chapters of the Red Cross are ever on the alert to move quickly in the event major disasters occur, no matter where. Its volunteer workers look after the personal needs of victims and assist in the treatment of injured. All this is done without thought of compensation. The money contributed to the Red Cross fund is to defray the cost of providing the necessities to those requiring the service of the Red Cross.

If our memory serves us right, last year's goal was oversubscribed. The people of Allegany county are no less generous and it is to be expected that they will respond just as spiritedly to this fund drive. The goal is $27,580. Canvassers for this amount are volunteer workers from the various communities. They should be received with the welcome they deserve when they call on neighbors and friends. The person solicited can be of great assistance in easing and simplifying their work by making a contribution on their first visit.

The campaign is in full swing. Up to the time this appeal for generous contributions was written $7,230 had been reported. Let's make it $27,580 by next Monday night.

New Step In Printing

Remarkable advancements in the art of printing have been made over the years. Presses of unbelievable speed and capacity have gradually supplanted older models that had their beginning in crude affairs that printed 200 impressions, a page at a time, per hour. Typesetting machines made the journeyman printer's task easier and shortened his hours.

But the first revolutionary departure in printing methods is currently being brought to perfection in Chicago, where all the newspapers have been published for three months without the use of type. Copy is transcribed, in regular column width, on special typewriters and printing is from engravings. Readers have commented favorably on the innovation.

Although a printers' strike was the motivation of the revolutionary development, there are predictions that the new process will be employed permanently.

Presumably, if Wallace had accepted the invitation of McGrath and O'Dwyer to return to the Democratic fold, all—including communism—would have been forgiven.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Milk and Postnasal Drip

Many individuals are disturbed because of the presence of mucuc in the back of the throat; fearing that their health is endangered thereby. A common misconception is that milk drinking is responsible. Moose carefully questioned 647 milk users and found that the percentage of patients exhibiting an excess secretion was the same as in those who never touched the stuff. In addition, nose and throat examinations were made on 157 persons to determine if a profuse amount of mucus existed in those who drank milk. Again, there was no difference between users and non-users.

Dr. Van Dellen

Another widespread belief is that if the material is swallowed at night, the stomach will suffer; or should it seep into the lungs, bronchitis will ensue. But studies have shown that this is not the case and, in the majority, postnasal drip is harmless.

The membranes of the nose and throat are normally moist and secretion goes on constantly in order to make this possible. So that the fluid may be kept in circulation, the passageways are lined with tiny, hairlike projections arranged in such fashion that in moving back and forth, the mucus is forced in a downward direction, toward the bottom of the throat. Ordinarily, we are unaware of the process and it is only when the quantity produced is excessive or thicker than usual that we notice it.

Since we have learned to associate a superabundance of the substance with sinus trouble or a cold or other respiratory infection we naturally assume that when the condition exists, disease is probably responsible. But there are many myriad causes—some voluntary and others beyond our control. For example, when extreme weather changes occur, or we sit in a heated room where the humidity is low, the nasal membranes compensate by supplying more mucus. The same takes place after smoking as tobacco irritates the surface. Alcoholic beverages dilate the vessels thus increasing congestion; all too often the effect is delayed until the following morning when the real offender is unsuspected. Another origin is the inhalation of dust and fumes. In all these illustrations the secretions are merely part of nature's attempt to rid the respiratory tract of irritants; the postnasal drip consists mainly of harmless mucus that is not teeming with bacteria.

Nasal catarrah may develop as a result of allergy. It is noted also in individuals who lack thyroid; changes in the hair and skin find a parallel in the nasal membranes which become boggy and covered with a thickened exudate. Similar alterations take place when the glandular balance is disturbed during the menopause. Many persons resort to nose drops to treat postnasal drip. Not realizing that the continued use of such preparations actually encourages the very thing they are trying to eliminate.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

There'll be a big time in the old town tonight. This evening, at the Cocoanut Grove in the Ambassador Hotel, Hollywood will pay tribute to one of its most honored and beloved citizens. Yes, sir, it's Louella Parsons night.

The motion picture industry will pay its respects to "Lolly," as she is called by her friends, and that means everyone. As I sit here and write this, I'm adorned in my finest dinner jacket, which was designed by Adrian and redesigned by a jealous moth, and its not easy for me to say the things I'd like to say about Lolly.

I find a tear in my eye, a lump in my throat, and besides, she didn't mention me this morning.

Thirty five years a reporter, Miss Parsons has always befriended those about whom she wrote. She has been a little rough on some of us, I'll admit, but when you look back, you realize it was only because we steppeed out of line and needed her well-meaning advice. No kidding, when I received an "open letter," Louella gave me a closed eye.

Jack Benny, George Jessel, and Ergar Bergen, the big-wigs of comedy, will be present, and I'm very happy that they've asked me to participate in tonight's ceremony in behalf of "Cousin Louella." No doubt there'll be plenty of ribbing directed at Miss Parsons, but Louella has always been a good sport and, besides, she can always get back at us in tomorrow's column.

Eisenhower Boom Is Still Alive; Top-Secret Orders To British On Withdrawal From Palestine, If Carried Out, Could Create Chaos

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 4—GOP politics have learned of a highly significant conversation between General Eisenhower and Leonard Finder of the Manchester, N. H., Union Leader, the man who received the famous Eisenhower letter telling of the General's withdrawal from the 1948 race for the Republican Presidential nomination.

After that letter, Finder received so much mail from people who still thought Eisenhower should run that he finally called Ike on the phone and asked him once again what the political score was.

Eisenhower repeated the fact that he did not want the Presidential nomination but gave the impression he would not swim too strongly against the tide if it started to wash him into the White House.

Ike's greatest fear was that he might get involved in petty politics, also that any political activities by him might reflect on the Army.

He told Finder that he would abide by his letter of withdrawal, but admitted that he could not and would not stop Finder from making any statements to the contrary.

"I will not tell you what you should or should not do," Ike said.

Eisenhower also made a significant statement about the Republican party which is bound to add fuel to Democratic hopes that he can be drafted instead of Harry Truman.

"I believe the Republican party with the wrong candidate is the wrong party," Ike said.

Note—Finder plans to issue a statement summarizing his impressions of Ike's political possibilities shortly after the New Hampshire primary, March 9.

No British Cooperation For Jews

The British Foreign Office has just sent a 32-page top-secret master plan to British officials in Palestine instructing them on withdrawal from that country. A copy also has been sent to Sir Alexander Cadogan, British representative at the United Nations.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of this confidential document, and it bears all the earmarks of deliberately trying to inspire chaos in Palestine after the British leave.

Instead of turning over British equipment such as arms and armored cars to the Jews who will be entrusted with governing the country and preserving order, this equipment is ordered destroyed or sold.

The British have now been in Palestine for thirty years but, as they leave, not one shred of cooperation is being passed on to the Jews, who take over May 16.

Master Plan For Trouble

1. All files are to be destroyed.
2. All revenue and postage stamps and stamping machines are to be destroyed.
3. Livestock on experimental farms is to be sold.
4. Vital parts are to be removed in order to immobilize radio transmitters.
5. Postal orders and money orders to be destroyed.
6. Unissued currency notes to be destroyed.
7. Trucks to be auctioned just before final withdrawal.
8. Arms held by Palestine police to be sold to the individuals involved.
9. Armored cars to be destroyed, horses of Palestine police, and camels, to be offered to the riders at reasonable prices.
10. Jerusalem and Bethlehem jails to be emptied before the departure to Haifa.
11. "Criminal lunatics—first redistribute so that when enlarged (released) they are in the midst of their own population. That is, Arabs among Arabs and Jews among Jews."
12. All plans and field records to be shipped in 30 steel cabinets to the U. K., pending transfer to a successor.

Fast Action On ERP Needed

It is now nearing one year since General Marshall proposed what is now known as the Marshall Plan for aid to Europe.

When the plan was first proposed Congress said it was too busy with routing appropriation bills and shortly thereafter adjourned for the summer.

Last fall, as the European situation got bad again and speedy action on the Marshall Plan was urged, Congress squawked about going back to work. Too many of its members were away on trips, Congressmen complained.

Finally when Congress was convened there elapsed weeks and weeks of hearings, debate, argument, and secret GOP meetings at the home of Kansas isolationist Senator Reed—all at a leisurely pace as if the world was perfectly normal and there wasn't the slightest need to hurry.

Meanwhile Russia has gobbled Czechoslovakia, tightened its hold on Finland, and is preparing for an early strike at Italy. After that, France.

Some Republicans—notably Malone of Nevada, Ecton of Montana and Wherry of Nebraska—are too dumb to know what the world situation is all about. But other GOP obstructionists—among them Knowland of California and Ball of Minnesota—are smart enough to realize that a few millions of dollars spent now can save thousands of lives later. So far, however, they haven't.

The debate in Congress boils down to the fact that either the Marshall Plan is worth voting or it isn't. If it's to be dragged out until after Russia swallows Europe then it might as well be kissed off right now. Congress should make up its mind—and fast!

One Speech Proved Milestone Of Elevation In Vandenberg

By MARK SULLIVAN

The tribute paid by the Senate to Mr. Vandenberg after his speech on the European Recovery Program as a defense against Russia and Communism, was not merely an expression of admiration for a speaker at the conclusion of a fine performance. In several ways it is related to deep currents of American sentiment and tradition.

Here is a man who in his younger years was editor of a small city newspaper in the heart of the country, Grand Rapids, Michigan; who had an interest in American politics and history, together with industry and an instinct for scholarship which expressed itself in two books written during the early 1920's, "Alexander Hamilton, The Greatest American" and "If Hamilton Were Here Today"; who, at the age of 44 came to the Senate, and whose growth in stature there is evidenced at once by the importance of his present position and the tribute of his fellow Senators.

It is a career to stir American youth, and inspire emulation. It is an answer to the pessimism, or the disposition to think that only the old is good, which sometimes compares the present Senate with past ones, to the detriment of the present; or through implication implies the same thing by saying "There were giants in those days." It would be wholly tenable to compare the Vandenberg of the 1940's with the Webster of more than a century before. In a Lincoln Day speech last month, ex-Governor Stassen said that Vandenberg is the living American statesman who is most nearly comparable with Lincoln.

Growth In Senate Gradual

Vandenberg's 20 years of growing in the Senate was gradual. It was no case of taking that body by storm through any single performance of oratory or otherwise. It was rather a gradual growth of esteem for him, evoked by industry, increasing familiarity with public questions, and steady improvement of his gift for expression. As late as 1940 his status in his party, as measured by its preference for the Presidential nomination, gave Vandenberg a maximum of only 76 votes, while Taft and Dewey had on their maximum ballots more than four times as many.

In Vandenberg's elevation during the past seven years, one speech had a conspicuous part. Any elevation of any public man, whether gradual or climactic, is likely to be associated with the events of his time. During the early part of the war, in 1941, President Roosevelt had United with Prime Minister Churchill in a declaration of principles called "The Atlantic Charter." One principle that especially gripped the imagination of the world was 'the right of peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live." Toward the end of the war, Vandenberg saw this principle being compromised or abandoned, as in the case of Poland, without such protest as Vandenberg thought Roosevelt should have made. Vandenberg, deeply moved, delivered a speech expressing his own protest, the eloquence and force of which was a milestone in his elevation.

Expressed Firmness

He was early in recognizing what many of our people did not see, or, because of its ominousness were reluctant to admit. After conferences in 1946 with Russian heads in which he took part, he said, "Eastern Communism and Western Democracy are the forces that confront each other. . . ."

The same year he addressed himself to Moscow, in a careful and forceful statement of four paragraphs, each beginning with the words, "You should understand."

The first three paragraphs conveyed assurance of good will for the Russian people, earnest desire to co-operate with the Soviet government, absence of any wish on our part to gain advantage. "There is no thought of conquest in our souls." But in the concluding paragraph he expressed firmness:

"You should also understand, with equally complete conviction, that we cannot be driven, coerced or pressured. . . ."

Free Speech As Applied To Radio Broadcast Principle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 3—There's lots of talk on "liberalism" and "civil rights" and "free speech" emanating from radicals hereabouts, but when it comes to applying the principle to radio broadcasting, their idea seems to be to restrict it or to let the government apply virtual censorship or to regulate it by government decree.

The opposition, which wants the radio opened up so that opinions can be expressed freely is considered "reactionary" or at least that is the main basis of the present edict—the fear that private companies owning radio stations may not be tools of the radicals and may possibly introduce a conservative point of view once in a while.

Actually it is amazing that in free America the question of whether radio stations shall be permitted to express editorial opinions should be debated. Maybe Moscow papers had better not notice the hearings going on now. Maybe the fact that the Federal Communications Commission, a government agency, forbids editorial expressions—which will be a surprise to most Americans—ought to be concealed lest the communists cry "hypocrisy."

FCC Usurped Power Given

But the truth is that an owner of a radio station cannot express his views as does the editor or owner of a newspaper or periodical. The excuse for all this is that the wave lengths are limited in number and hence the government must regulate their use. Now there are plenty of channels. Multiplicity has resulted from inventions. The original idea was that regulation should merely prevent mechanical collisions or interferences and that wave lengths or "frequencies" should be allocated to stations that could perform program service. Gradually the Federal Communincations Commission usurped the power given to it by Congress to handle mechanical allocations and insisted on going into program content.

It is denied, of course, that the commission does this but when it issues an order forbidding editorial expressions there can be no doubt about the implied censorship of views.

The argument is advanced that radio is different from newspapers or periodicals in that persons of limited knowledge or intelligence could be easily misled by agitators and that the government must always keep control. This is but another way of saying that the people of America cannot be trusted and that democracy is dangerous.

In the course of the last several years many agitators have, by one means or another, gotten a hearing on the radio. The people sometimes turn off these speakers or listen with amused tolerance. America has not suffered because of the free expressions of opinions that have come from programs with speakers on controversial subjects.

Splitting Of Hairs

To say that the owner may not express on opinion over his own radio station or hire any speakers to express views on current questions but that he may permit outside speakers to express editorial views is to split hairs. Yet this is exactly what the ruling of the Federal Communications Commission does.

The contention is made that the ruling should require an owner of a station to allow time for "both sides." Publishers do this through letters from readers and by printing the news which day by day contains plenty of expressions of editorial opinions in the form of interviews by opposing sides. Often one side gets printed one day, and it is several days before there is a reply. The owner of a publication doesn't feel that this delay is his responsibility. It may be bad public relations for the protagonist but the delay is not the responsibility of the medium of expression.

A sensible owner of a radio station will try to get both sides or lose public patronage, but to impose a government rule requiring him to do so is to edit the program of his station. It is better to allow for the occasional instances of abuse than to permit the government by law to regulate so-called "impartiality" or to say what is "both sides." Often there are a dozen sides to a controversy.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—the greatest liberal of them all—who defined freedom of speech as "freedom for the thought we hate." Maybe the governmental agencies which call themselves liberal do not know the true meaning of that quotations. It is surprising also to find the American Civil Liberties Union forgetting that definition, too, and insisting at the hearings on a continuance of government censorship by means of regulated program content.

These Days

The Vandenberg Bill

CONTRADICTIONS appear in the Vandenberg Bill on the Marshall Plan which need to be studied with care. In a statement on his bill, Senator Vandenberg gave the impression that the American people would be able to "take a look" at the entire matter at the end of the first year (June 30, 1949). It does not seem, from the bill, that this means very much. In fact, the bill is definitely for four years and the amount is definitely $17,000,000,000.

Any other statement is literally untrue. I do not say that Senator Vandenberg is untruthful; I do say that the impression is likely to be distorted.

Section 21 (a) provides that the plan terminates after June 30, 1952, unless otherwise provided by joint resolution. What has that to do with June 30, 1949? Should the Vandenberg Bill be passed, it will bind this country to a four-year plan at the cost of $17,000,000,000. That should be repeated every time the phrase "Marshall Plan" is mentioned. That should be put at the top of the Vandenberg Bill, so that there can be no mistake about it.

It will serve neither the United States nor the beneficiaries of the gifts we give them, if there is any mistake.

Section 14 (c) provides "There are hereby authorized to be appropriated to the President, from time to time through June 30, 1952 . . . such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions and accomplish the purposes of this Act: Provided, however, That for carrying out the provisions . . . of this Act for the period of one year following the date of enactment of this Act. There are hereby. . . . appropriated not to exceed $5,300,000,000."

What other purpose can the smaller figure have than to give the impression that that is all there is to it? Yet, twice, in Section II (paragraph 4) and in Section 21 (paragraph a), the extension of this program to 1952 is specifically mentioned. There can be no question that a definite moral obligation is being undertaken on the basis of the Report of the Committee on European Cooperation (The Bevin Report). This provides a four-year plan, ending in 1952. There is never at ony point any question about that. Nowhere does the Bevin Report propose a one-year plan. There is no calculation for a contribution on our part of $5,300,000,000. The amount is $17,000,000,000 and to it must be added the full amount of aid to Greece, Turkey and China.

From all this, these facts are clear:

1. No Congress can commit a succeeding Congress to an appropriation; therefore, an appropriation is being set for one year;

2. However, the Vandenberg Bill stipulates a moral obligation to complete a contract in four years, ending 1952, amounting to $17,000,000,000;

3. This does not include amounts to be spent on Greece, Turkey and China;

4. Although Congress does not have to accept the full responsibility of a four-year program amounting to $17,000,000,000 and no one can force the United States to pay over this amount, it is nevertheless true that the American people are not likely to default on a moral obligation inherent in a bill passed by Congress and signed by the President;

5. It is therefore clear that the Vandenberg Bill commits this country to $17,000,000,000 and to a four-year program until 1952.

Another point to be noted in the Vandenberg Bill is that whereas the general assumption seems to be that the gifts under ERP are to be administered by an agency independent of the State Department; yet in the bill, the Administrator's functions are limited and his agents abroad are placed under the "Chief of the United States Diplomatic Missions," which means that they are directly subject to the Secretary of State. If that is the intention, why not do it that way?

What can be the object of verbal camouflage except to confuse the people, meeting public opinion by such a superfluity of language as was exhibited in Senator Austin's masterpiece of double talk in his address on the Palestinian question. Such nonsense is to be expected from the current management of the State Department, but not from Senator Vandenberg.

This bill gives the impression of being intellectually fradulent and requires clarification to clean it up.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

House Of The Mind

We have quite a key to the personality of a person the moment that we step into his or her home. That home does not have to be pretentious, or representative of wealth—merely representative of the person who lives there, as it is.

Just so is the mind representative of the person. You can walk into a mind as you walk into a home. The mind, however, is, or can be, more extensive. It can cover acres. Some minds cover continents, or worlds! Others are no more than a hut, in which to breathe sufficiently, merely to sustain life. On the other hand, what a storehouse of wealth is the mind of many—regular vast estates of knowledge and accumulated precious lore.

There are other minds that remind one of a garret—just a place where there is to be found a mass of mere junk! Everything in disorder— everything topsy-turvy. You have to hunt for hours in such a mind to find a sihgle thought or idea.

We often hear the phrase, "a first-class mind." I have no ideas as to what that sort of a mind is, unless it be one that is always in order, well informed, and efficient. One in which there is room—full of space that is utilized.

We all like to walk into the mind-house of one that is well furnished with ideas, rich in individual thought and experience. There are those with whom I talk where I feel I am walking around in their mind, as though I were in a garden, absorbing beauty and intellectual nourishment.

People in a house keep going and coming—carrying on the work of the world. From the house of the mind, ideas keep coming and going, as well. But covering a larger area. Many of these ideas cover continents, and find lodgement in libraries, and are enlarged in other houses of the mind. My own library is a tribute to the furniture that first enriched the house-mind of others.

We ought to think a great deal about this house-mind of ours, keeping it well, and tastefully furnished, clean, and in order. There is no limit as to its capacity. That is a matter of will and desire!

The Primary Election Results In Cumberland

Forty per cent of the citizens of Cumberland who were entitled to vote in Tuesday's primary election have nominated candidates for mayor and city councilmen, and for whom they and the 60 per cent of stay-at-home voters will be expected to cast their ballots at the general election on March 16.

One candidate for mayor and thirteen for councilmen were eliminated in Tuesday's contest. As was generally conceded, the four incumbent city commissioners were renominated, two by slim margins, while two finished the first skirmish of the city campaign in first and second places.

Mayor Post's showing in the primary was, undoubtedly, a disappointment to him and to those who supported his candidacy. The outcome of the second round in the battle for votes to retain his position as city executive cannot, of course, be known, but his chances of success certainly cannot be too encouraging to his friends.

He suffered a distinct loss of political prestige in the South End where, heretofore, he had shown much strength and where he had expected to hold that advantage in this contest. He not only failed in this but lost his home precinct to the candidate he must fight it out with in the general election campaign.

While not a stranger in politics, having been a candidate for the Maryland General Assembly from Allegany county, F. Allan Weatherholt did make his first bid for political honors in a city campaign when he aspired for the mayorship. Although failing of the nomination, Mr. Weatherholt showed surprising strength, and when it is considered that he made his fight with little, if any, organization support, the vote his candidacy received must be most gratifying to him and his friends.

The vote-drawing power displayed by Roy W. Eves in his first venture into the political arena was not entirely unexpected. While the strength shown will stand him in good stead as he enters the second heat of his campaign for mayor, it might be considered as a further demonstration of the first rule in a free democratic country, or city, as in this case, that the pendulum of public opinion keeps swinging, first one way and then another. Certainly, his outstanding victory at the polls strengthens the belief that he is the choice of the people.

So the die has been cast. It is expected that the campaign from now until the general election, less than two weeks off, will be a spirited one with every candidate endeavoring to retain or improve his chances of election.

Additional interest, in addition to the candidates and what they might say, will be thrown into the campaign by the appearance on the ballot of two referendums—one providing for increases in the salaries of the mayor and the city councilmen, and one giving the city authority to issue bonds up to the amount of $150,000 for a recreational and playground program. These are expected to be subjects of much argument, and candidates will be called upon to reiterate their stand on the issues. Both should receive thoughtful consideration by the voters before they go to the polls on Tuesday, March 16.

Red Cross Fund Drive Should Go Over The Top

The Red Cross fund campaign in Allegany county, which will come to a close with what workers hope will be a victory dinner Monday night, should receive the financial support of every person as tribute to this organization's outstanding humanitarian activities through the years.

The work of the Red Cross is never confined to any one emergency. It has won distinction in war and in peace, lending a hand to all who might become victims of whatever type of disaster strikes. During wars Red Cross workers give comfort to servicemen on battlefields and to their families miles away. This work is continued when peace comes through constant contact with those in the veterans' hospitals. They provide entertainment for the confined and provide, through recruiting campaigns, blood donors to speed the recovery of the ill and hurt. It all plays a major role in the rehabilitation of servicemen.

The various chapters of the Red Cross are ever on the alert to move quickly in the event major disasters occur, no matter where. Its volunteer workers look after the personal needs of victims and assist in the treatment of injured. All this is done without thought of compensation. The money contributed to the Red Cross fund is to defray the cost of providing the necessities to those requiring the service of the Red Cross.

If our memory serves us right, last year's goal was oversubscribed. The people of Allegany county are no less generous and it is to be expected that they will respond just as spiritedly to this fund drive. The goal is $27,580. Canvassers for this amount are volunteer workers from the various communities. They should be received with the welcome they deserve when they call on neighbors and friends. The person solicited can be of great assistance in easing and simplifying their work by making a contribution on their first visit.

The campaign is in full swing. Up to the time this appeal for generous contributions was written $7,230 had been reported. Let's make it $27,580 by next Monday night.

New Step In Printing

Remarkable advancements in the art of printing have been made over the years. Presses of unbelievable speed and capacity have gradually supplanted older models that had their beginning in crude affairs that printed 200 impressions, a page at a time, per hour. Typesetting machines made the journeyman printer's task easier and shortened his hours.

But the first revolutionary departure in printing methods is currently being brought to perfection in Chicago, where all the newspapers have been published for three months without the use of type. Copy is transcribed, in regular column width, on special typewriters and printing is from engravings. Readers have commented favorably on the innovation.

Although a printers' strike was the motivation of the revolutionary development, there are predictions that the new process will be employed permanently.

Presumably, if Wallace had accepted the invitation of McGrath and O'Dwyer to return to the Democratic fold, all—including communism—would have been forgiven.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Milk and Postnasal Drip

Many individuals are disturbed because of the presence of mucuc in the back of the throat; fearing that their health is endangered thereby. A common misconception is that milk drinking is responsible. Moose carefully questioned 647 milk users and found that the percentage of patients exhibiting an excess secretion was the same as in those who never touched the stuff. In addition, nose and throat examinations were made on 157 persons to determine if a profuse amount of mucus existed in those who drank milk. Again, there was no difference between users and non-users.

Dr. Van Dellen

Another widespread belief is that if the material is swallowed at night, the stomach will suffer; or should it seep into the lungs, bronchitis will ensue. But studies have shown that this is not the case and, in the majority, postnasal drip is harmless.

The membranes of the nose and throat are normally moist and secretion goes on constantly in order to make this possible. So that the fluid may be kept in circulation, the passageways are lined with tiny, hairlike projections arranged in such fashion that in moving back and forth, the mucus is forced in a downward direction, toward the bottom of the throat. Ordinarily, we are unaware of the process and it is only when the quantity produced is excessive or thicker than usual that we notice it.

Since we have learned to associate a superabundance of the substance with sinus trouble or a cold or other respiratory infection we naturally assume that when the condition exists, disease is probably responsible. But there are many myriad causes—some voluntary and others beyond our control. For example, when extreme weather changes occur, or we sit in a heated room where the humidity is low, the nasal membranes compensate by supplying more mucus. The same takes place after smoking as tobacco irritates the surface. Alcoholic beverages dilate the vessels thus increasing congestion; all too often the effect is delayed until the following morning when the real offender is unsuspected. Another origin is the inhalation of dust and fumes. In all these illustrations the secretions are merely part of nature's attempt to rid the respiratory tract of irritants; the postnasal drip consists mainly of harmless mucus that is not teeming with bacteria.

Nasal catarrah may develop as a result of allergy. It is noted also in individuals who lack thyroid; changes in the hair and skin find a parallel in the nasal membranes which become boggy and covered with a thickened exudate. Similar alterations take place when the glandular balance is disturbed during the menopause. Many persons resort to nose drops to treat postnasal drip. Not realizing that the continued use of such preparations actually encourages the very thing they are trying to eliminate.

Eisenhower repeated the fact that he did not want the Presidential nomination but gave the impression he would not swim too strongly against the tide if it started to wash him into the White House.

Ike's greatest fear was that he might get involved in petty politics, also that any political activities by him might reflect on the Army.

He told Finder that he would abide by his letter of withdrawal, but admitted that he could not and would not stop Finder from making any statements to the contrary.

"I will not tell you what you should or should not do," Ike said.

Eisenhower also made a significant statement about the Republican party which is bound to add fuel to Democratic hopes that he can be drafted instead of Harry Truman.

"I believe the Republican party with the wrong candidate is the wrong party," Ike said.

Note—Finder plans to issue a statement summarizing his impressions of Ike's political possibilities shortly after the New Hampshire primary, March 9.

No British Cooperation For Jews

The British Foreign Office has just sent a 32-page top-secret master plan to British officials in Palestine instructing them on withdrawal from that country. A copy also has been sent to Sir Alexander Cadogan, British representative at the United Nations.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of this confidential document, and it bears all the earmarks of deliberately trying to inspire chaos in Palestine after the British leave.

Instead of turning over British equipment such as arms and armored cars to the Jews who will be entrusted with governing the country and preserving order, this equipment is ordered destroyed or sold.

The British have now been in Palestine for thirty years but, as they leave, not one shred of cooperation is being passed on to the Jews, who take over May 16.

Master Plan For Trouble

1. All files are to be destroyed.
2. All revenue and postage stamps and stamping machines are to be destroyed.
3. Livestock on experimental farms is to be sold.
4. Vital parts are to be removed in order to immobilize radio transmitters.
5. Postal orders and money orders to be destroyed.
6. Unissued currency notes to be destroyed.
7. Trucks to be auctioned just before final withdrawal.
8. Arms held by Palestine police to be sold to the individuals involved.
9. Armored cars to be destroyed, horses of Palestine police, and camels, to be offered to the riders at reasonable prices.
10. Jerusalem and Bethlehem jails to be emptied before the departure to Haifa.
11. "Criminal lunatics—first redistribute so that when enlarged (released) they are in the midst of their own population. That is, Arabs among Arabs and Jews among Jews."
12. All plans and field records to be shipped in 30 steel cabinets to the U. K., pending transfer to a successor.

Fast Action On ERP Needed

It is now nearing one year since General Marshall proposed what is now known as the Marshall Plan for aid to Europe.

When the plan was first proposed Congress said it was too busy with routing appropriation bills and shortly thereafter adjourned for the summer.

Last fall, as the European situation got bad again and speedy action on the Marshall Plan was urged, Congress squawked about going back to work. Too many of its members were away on trips, Congressmen complained.

Finally when Congress was convened there elapsed weeks and weeks of hearings, debate, argument, and secret GOP meetings at the home of Kansas isolationist Senator Reed—all at a leisurely pace as if the world was perfectly normal and there wasn't the slightest need to hurry.

Meanwhile Russia has gobbled Czechoslovakia, tightened its hold on Finland, and is preparing for an early strike at Italy. After that, France.

Some Republicans—notably Malone of Nevada, Ecton of Montana and Wherry of Nebraska—are too dumb to know what the world situation is all about. But other GOP obstructionists—among them Knowland of California and Ball of Minnesota—are smart enough to realize that a few millions of dollars spent now can save thousands of lives later. So far, however, they haven't.

The debate in Congress boils down to the fact that either the Marshall Plan is worth voting or it isn't. If it's to be dragged out until after Russia swallows Europe then it might as well be kissed off right now. Congress should make up its mind—and fast!

One Speech Proved Milestone Of Elevation In Vandenberg

By MARK SULLIVAN

The tribute paid by the Senate to Mr. Vandenberg after his speech on the European Recovery Program as a defense against Russia and Communism, was not merely an expression of admiration for a speaker at the conclusion of a fine performance. In several ways it is related to deep currents of American sentiment and tradition.

Here is a man who in his younger years was editor of a small city newspaper in the heart of the country, Grand Rapids, Michigan; who had an interest in American politics and history, together with industry and an instinct for scholarship which expressed itself in two books written during the early 1920's, "Alexander Hamilton, The Greatest American" and "If Hamilton Were Here Today"; who, at the age of 44 came to the Senate, and whose growth in stature there is evidenced at once by the importance of his present position and the tribute of his fellow Senators.

It is a career to stir American youth, and inspire emulation. It is an answer to the pessimism, or the disposition to think that only the old is good, which sometimes compares the present Senate with past ones, to the detriment of the present; or through implication implies the same thing by saying "There were giants in those days." It would be wholly tenable to compare the Vandenberg of the 1940's with the Webster of more than a century before. In a Lincoln Day speech last month, ex-Governor Stassen said that Vandenberg is the living American statesman who is most nearly comparable with Lincoln.

Growth In Senate Gradual

Vandenberg's 20 years of growing in the Senate was gradual. It was no case of taking that body by storm through any single performance of oratory or otherwise. It was rather a gradual growth of esteem for him, evoked by industry, increasing familiarity with public questions, and steady improvement of his gift for expression. As late as 1940 his status in his party, as measured by its preference for the Presidential nomination, gave Vandenberg a maximum of only 76 votes, while Taft and Dewey had on their maximum ballots more than four times as many.

In Vandenberg's elevation during the past seven years, one speech had a conspicuous part. Any elevation of any public man, whether gradual or climactic, is likely to be associated with the events of his time. During the early part of the war, in 1941, President Roosevelt had United with Prime Minister Churchill in a declaration of principles called "The Atlantic Charter." One principle that especially gripped the imagination of the world was 'the right of peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live." Toward the end of the war, Vandenberg saw this principle being compromised or abandoned, as in the case of Poland, without such protest as Vandenberg thought Roosevelt should have made. Vandenberg, deeply moved, delivered a speech expressing his own protest, the eloquence and force of which was a milestone in his elevation.

Expressed Firmness

He was early in recognizing what many of our people did not see, or, because of its ominousness were reluctant to admit. After conferences in 1946 with Russian heads in which he took part, he said, "Eastern Communism and Western Democracy are the forces that confront each other. . . ."

The same year he addressed himself to Moscow, in a careful and forceful statement of four paragraphs, each beginning with the words, "You should understand."

The first three paragraphs conveyed assurance of good will for the Russian people, earnest desire to co-operate with the Soviet government, absence of any wish on our part to gain advantage, "There is no thought of conquest in our souls." But in the concluding paragraph he expressed firmness:

"You should also understand, with equally complete conviction, that we cannot be driven, coerced or pressured. . . ."

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The office seeks the man and has no trouble locating the gaffer. He is modestly waving the American flag, outscreaming the eagle, while patriotic fright has turned his hair red, white and blue.

Mr. Hoover has risen as an elder statesman equipped with letters of marque and reprisal. Mr. Baruch forgot to put fresh paint signs on the other benches in the park.

But the photograph might turn out to be Hankus Wallace, the seven Sutherland sisters or the walking man.

Free Speech As Applied To Radio Broadcast Principle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 3—There's lots of talk on "liberalism" and "civil rights" and "free speech" emanating from radicals hereabouts, but when it comes to applying the principle to radio broadcasting, their idea seems to be to restrict it or to let the government apply virtual censorship or to regulate it by government decree.

The opposition, which wants the radio opened up so that opinions can be expressed freely is considered "reactionary" or at least that is the main basis of the present edict—the fear that private companies owning radio stations may not be tools of the radicals and may possibly introduce a conservative point of view once in a while.

Actually it is amazing that in free America the question of whether radio stations shall be permitted to express editorial opinions should be debated. Maybe Moscow papers had better not notice the hearings going on now. Maybe the fact that the Federal Communications Commission, a government agency, forbids editorial expressions—which will be a surprise to most Americans—ought to be concealed lest the communists cry "hypocrisy."

FCC Usurped Power Given

But the truth is that an owner of a radio station cannot express his views as does the editor or owner of a newspaper or periodical. The excuse for all this is that the wave lengths are limited in number and hence the government must regulate their use. Now there are plenty of channels. Multiplicity has resulted from inventions. The original idea was that regulation should merely prevent mechanical collisions or interferences and that wave lengths or "frequencies" should be allocated to stations that could perform program service. Gradually the Federal Communincations Commission usurped the power given to it by Congress to handle mechanical allocations and insisted on going into program content.

It is denied, of course, that the commission does this but when it issues an order forbidding editorial expressions there can be no doubt about the implied censorship of views.

The argument is advanced that radio is different from newspapers or periodicals in that persons of limited knowledge or intelligence could be easily misled by agitators and that the government must always keep control. This is but another way of saying that the people of America cannot be trusted and that democracy is dangerous.

In the course of the last several years many agitators have, by one means or another, gotten a hearing on the radio. The people sometimes turn off these speakers or listen with amused tolerance. America has not suffered because of the free expressions of opinions that have come from programs with speakers on controversial subjects.

Splitting Of Hairs

To say that the owner may not express on opinion over his own radio station or hire any speakers to express views on current questions but that he may permit outside speakers to express editorial views is to split hairs. Yet this is exactly what the ruling of the Federal Communications Commission does.

The contention is made that the ruling should require an owner of a station to allow time for "both sides." Publishers do this through letters from readers and by printing the news which day by day contains plenty of expressions of editorial opinions in the form of interviews by opposing sides. Often one side gets printed one day, and it is several days before there is a reply. The owner of a publication doesn't feel that this delay is his responsibility. It may be bad public relations for the protagonist but the delay is not the responsibility of the medium of expression.

A sensible owner of a radio station will try to get both sides or lose public patronage, but to impose a government rule requiring him to do so is to edit the program of his station. It is better to allow for the occasional instances of abuse than to permit the government by law to regulate so-called "impartiality" or to say what is "both sides." Often there are a dozen sides to a controversy.

It was the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—the greatest liberal of them all—who defined freedom of speech as "freedom for the thought we hate." Maybe the governmental agencies which call themselves liberal do not know the true meaning of that quotations. It is surprising also to find the American Civil Liberties Union forgetting that definition, too, and insisting at the hearings on a continuance of government censorship by means of regulated program content.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Vandenberg Bill

CONTRADICTIONS appear in the Vandenberg Bill on the Marshall Plan which need to be studied with care. In a statement on his bill, Senator Vandenberg gave the impression that the American people would be able to "take a look" at the entire matter at the end of the first year (June 30, 1949). It does not seem, from the bill, that this means very much. In fact, the bill is definitely for four years and the amount is definitely $17,000,000,000.

Any other statement is literally untrue. I do not say that Senator Vandenberg is untruthful; I do say that the impression is likely to be distorted.

Section 21 (a) provides that the plan terminates after June 30, 1952, unless otherwise provided by joint resolution. What has that to do with June 30, 1949? Should the Vandenberg Bill be passed, it will bind this country to a four-year plan at the cost of $17,000,000,000. That should be repeated every time the phrase "Marshall Plan" is mentioned. That should be put at the top of the Vandenberg Bill, so that there can be no mistake about it.

It will serve neither the United States nor the beneficiaries of the gifts we give them, if there is any mistake.

Section 14 (c) provides "There are hereby authorized to be appropriated to the President, from time to time through June 30, 1952 . . . such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions and accomplish the purposes of this Act: Provided, however, That for carrying out the provisions . . . of this Act for the period of one year following the date of enactment of this Act. There are hereby. . . . appropriated not to exceed $5,300,000,000."

What other purpose can the smaller figure have than to give the impression that that is all there is to it? Yet, twice, in Section II (paragraph 4) and in Section 21 (paragraph a), the extension of this program to 1952 is specifically mentioned. There can be no question that a definite moral obligation is being undertaken on the basis of the Report of the Committee on European Cooperation (The Bevin Report). This provides a four-year plan, ending in 1952. There is never at ony point any question about that. Nowhere does the Bevin Report propose a one-year plan. There is no calculation for a contribution on our part of $5,300,000,000. The amount is $17,000,000,000 and to it must be added the full amount of aid to Greece, Turkey and China.

From all this, these facts are clear:

1. No Congress can commit a succeeding Congress to an appropriation; therefore, an appropriation is being set for one year;

2. However, the Vandenberg Bill stipulates a moral obligation to complete a contract in four years, ending 1952, amounting to $17,000,000,000;

3. This does not include amounts to be spent on Greece, Turkey and China;

4. Although Congress does not have to accept the full responsibility of a four-year program amounting to $17,000,000,000 and no one can force the United States to pay over this amount, it is nevertheless true that the American people are not likely to default on a moral obligation inherent in a bill passed by Congress and signed by the President;

5. It is therefore clear that the Vandenberg Bill commits this country to $17,000,000,000 and to a four-year program until 1952.

Another point to be noted in the Vandenberg Bill is that whereas the general assumption seems to be that the gifts under ERP are to be administered by an agency independent of the State Department; yet in the bill, the Administrator's functions are limited and his agents abroad are placed under the "Chief of the United States Diplomatic Missions," which means that they are directly subject to the Secretary of State. If that is the intention, why not do it that way?

What can be the object of verbal camouflage except to confuse the people, meeting public opinion by such a superfluity of language as was exhibited in Senator Austin's masterpiece of double talk in his address on the Palestinian question. Such nonsense is to be expected from the current management of the State Department, but not from Senator Vandenberg.

This bill gives the impression of being intellectually fradulent and requires clarification to clean it up.

Today's Talk

House Of The Mind

We have quite a key to the personality of a person the moment that we step into his or her home. That home does not have to be pretentious, or representative of wealth—merely representative of the person who lives there, as it is.

Just so is the mind representative of the person. You can walk into a mind as you walk into a home. The mind, however, is, or can be, more extensive. It can cover acres. Some minds cover continents, or worlds! Others are no more than a hut, in which to breathe sufficiently, merely to sustain life. On the other hand, what a storehouse of wealth is the mind of many—regular vast estates of knowledge and accumulated precious lore.

There are other minds that remind one of a garret—just a place where there is to be found a mass of mere junk! Everything in disorder— everything topsy-turvy. You have to hunt for hours in such a mind to find a single thought or idea.

We often hear the phrase, "a first-class mind." I have no ideas as to what that sort of a mind is, unless it be one that is always in order, well informed, and efficient. One in which there is room—full of space that is utilized.

We all like to walk into the mind-house of one that is well furnished with ideas, rich in individual thought and experience. There are those with whom I talk where I feel I am walking around in their mind, as though I were in a garden, absorbing beauty and intellectual nourishment.

People in a house keep going and coming—carrying on the work of the world. From the house of the mind, ideas keep coming and going, as well. But covering a larger area. Many of these ideas cover continents, and find lodgement in libraries, and are enlarged in other houses of the mind. My own library is a tribute to the furniture that first enriched the house-mind of others.

We ought to think a great deal about this house-mind of ours, keeping it well, and tastefully furnished, clean, and in order. There is no limit as to its capacity. That is a matter of will and desire!

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's outlook finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion . . . ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins" . . . and lets it go at that!

From where I sit—by Joe Marsh

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's outlaws finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a-slave to fashion . . . ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportscasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins" . . . and lets it go at that!

Advice To The Lovelorn

Boy Told It's Foolish To Force His Attentions On A Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Miss Fairfax:

ently I met a very nice girl I love very much. On our e she told me that she loved someone else and could not see me again. But she also told me that this boy she loves has never even asked her to go steady, and that he wouldn't say anything if he knew she went out with me. He is away at school. I have been out with her six times and have never kissed her.

I would like to know if I should still try to take her out.

"BEWILDERED"

Dear "Bewildered":

Your girl friend seems to me a little foolish if she wants to give up boy friends for the sake of one who has never shown any interest in her. You don't think that she is just giving you a rather awkward brush-off, do you?

I think you'd be smart if you didn't try to press this girl. If she thinks you are really losing interest in her, she might have a change of heart. I don't believe she will if you force yourself on her.

As for the kissing business, a modern boy may feel that to have taken a girl out six times wtihout having kissed her is a reflection on him. But I am old-fashioned enough to think otherwise. Save your kisses until they really mean something to the other person as well as yourself. And don't be in such a hurry to think yourself in love.

Teen-Age "Old Maids"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Please don't think this problem foolish, as it is very important to us. My sister is 16 and I am 17, and already we are being called "old maids."

Just about everyone in our circle of friends is married at this age and those who aren't are planning to be soon. That just leaves us out. We haven't even any prospects yet, and it has preyed on our minds so much that we cry ourselves to sleep at night.

"DESPERATE"

Dear "Desperate":

Instead of crying yourselves to sleep at night, I think you and your sister ought to be laughing at the people who call you "old maids" at 16 and 17. If you haven't any unmarried friends of your own age, go out and find some. There must be thousands and thousands of them in the big city where you live, I might be able to tell you where to look for some if you will tell me where I could write you.

Take my advice and stop being so foolishly morbid about yourselves, and refuse to let any of your friends tease you into believing anything so ridiculous as that you are "old maids." I'm sorry for the girls who marry so young; they're losing a great deal out of their lives that they'll never have again, when they exchange a teen-ager's carefree fun for the responsibilities of marriage. You might suggest to them, when they disparage you as "old maids," that you're just being smart.

Group Hears Talk On Camera Club, Pictures

The two aims of the Cumberland Camera Club, its purposes and achievements were outlined by John King at the meeting of the Music Group of the Woman's Civic Club on Tuesday at the library.

Mr. King explained that the major objectives of the club are to establish a museum of art in Cumberland and camera clubs in the high schools. The former is for exhibits of art objects, stamp collections, pictures and ceramics, and a place where musical activities could be held.

Under purposes and achievements, the speaker explained the club wishes to assist all who are interested in perfecting pictures they take, and for this purpose the faults in the pictures are explained. He also suggested the backgrounds be watched and that the picture be divided into three sections, drawing two lines vertically and two lines perpendicularly, so where they cross would be the focal point of the picture.

He urged that the person definitely know his camera, what it is equal to do and know what type of lens, whether it will take the type of picture wanted. Instead of trusting to the lens and shutter for action pictures, the speaker suggested that when possible the picture should be posed. He also stressed not to focus to cut off the subject, and by illustrations showed how a portion of the subject could be taken off without giving the picture the effect of being cut off.

Mr. King also stressed the importance of careful selection of the subject which should be expressive enough to "tell a story." He illustrated his talk with snapshots, exhibit and prize pictures.

Group Hears Talk On Camera Club, Pictures

The two aims of the Cumberland Camera Club, its purposes and achievements were outlined by John King at the meeting of the Music Group of the Woman's Civic Club on Tuesday at the library.

Mr. King explained that the major objectives of the club are to establish a museum of art in Cumberland and camera clubs in the high schools. The former is for exhibits of art objects, stamp collections, pictures and ceramics, and a place where musical activities could be held.

Under purposes and achievements, the speaker explained the club wishes to assist all who are interested in perfecting pictures they take, and for this purpose the faults in the pictures are explained. He also suggested the backgrounds be watched and that the picture be divided into three sections, drawing two lines vertically and two lines perpendicularly, so where they cross would be the focal point of the picture.

He urged that the person definitely know his camera, what it is equal to do and know what type of lens, whether it will take the type of picture wanted. Instead of trusting to the lens and shutter for action pictures, the speaker suggested that when possible the picture should be posed. He also stressed not to focus to cut off the subject, and by illustrations showed how a portion of the subject could be taken off without giving the picture the effect of being cut off.

Mr. King also stressed the importance of careful selection of the subject which should be expressive enough to "tell a story." He illustrated his talk with snapshots, exhibit and prize pictures.

COUNTY BOOK PROJECT TENTATIVELY APPROVED

The Allegany County bookmobile program yesterday was still hinging on equipment and operative costs after the Board of County Commissioners gave tentative approval but withheld a final decision.

The commissioners, however, believed Frostburg and Westernport should have community libraries if the citizens desire them.

The bookmobile would cover the county outside of Cumberland. It would require a vehicle to carr books, at least two persons to mak distributions, and more to prepar books.

The commissioners have receive letters advocating the library fror groups representing the Corrigar ville, LaVale, Johnson Height Hammond Street, and Pennsylvani Avenue Parent-Teacher Associatio

Banking House 1886 to 1912

WIDESPREAD civic and industrial development took place in Cumberland during the period from 1880 until 1910. In February 1884 the Edison Electric Illuminating Company was organized and the city's first electric lights were turned on in September of that year. 1890 witnessed the organization of the Cumberland Electric Railway. Both of these institutions later became part of the Potomac Edison system.

The nearby towns of Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport were brought into closer contact with Cumberland through the construction in 1902 of the Cumberland and Westernport Electric Railway Company, now known as the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company. The Western Maryland Telephone Company began operations in 1903 and continued until 1911 when it was absorbed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. The tracks of the Western Maryland Railway reached Cumberland in 1906, thus further adding to the industrial importance of the city.

The Maryland State Legislature in 1910 amended the charter of Cumberland, placing the city under a commission form of government. In the same year the Evitts Creek Water Company commenced operation, replacing the old City Water Works along the Potomac River.

Having outgrown its facilities, The First National Bank of Cumberland erected a new banking house in 1886. Throughout the following years the bank continued to serve its clients faithfully and well. Then, as now, always aware of the need for a continuous modernization of its sound banking practices, The First National Bank has kept pace with the ever changing requirements of the growing community it serves.

Keyser Charter Ordinance Passed By Mayor, Council

7-Member Board Will Be Elected

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va.—An ordinance calling for an election to frame a new charter for Keyser, W. Va., was approved by the Mayor and City Council yesterday afternoon.

The ordinance also provides for the election of a charter board to consist of seven members. City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., asked local clubs and civic organizations to take an active part in selecting Charter Board candidates.

A request by Robert Shapiro to have the city remove a parking meter from the entrance to a vacant lot next to his place of business was granted.

Guy Clem and Paul Howdyshell, probationary policemen, were appointed members of Keyser's regular police force by the Mayor and Council. Clem, who had been an extra policeman for several months, replaced Talmadge Gardner on the force the first of February when Gardner was suspended. Howdyshell was placed on probation last August.

The council instructed City Attorney Swadley to take necessary action in having a court order changed in the case of the City of Keyser vs George Shaw.

Shaw was charged with reckless driving as a result of an accident on Main Street last August, and was fined $50 and costs. He appealed the case to the Mineral County Circuit Court where the charge was changed to hazardous driving.

Building permits granted by the council were for L. F. Nine to construct an addition to the front of a store room at 201 South Main Street at an approximate cost of $500. A permit for the construction of a five-room bungalow, West Piedmont Street, was granted to Ruth C. Long.

Gardner Rites Planned

A funeral service for Maude Byron Gardner, 50, who died at her home, 56 Mozelle Street, yesterday morning, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Knobley Church of the Brethren, with Rev. I. S. Long officiating, assisted by Rev. Lorenzo Fike. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

A daughter of the late Daniel and Adeline Rotruck Gardner, she was born in Antioch. She was a member of the Knobley Church of the Brethren.

She is survived by one son, Austin H. Gardner, Keyser; four brothers, Clarence Gardner, New Creek; Lloyd Gardner, Antioch; Wesley Gardner, Keyser, and B. H. Gardner, Willard, Ohio. One sister, Miss Gertrude Gardner, Fort Wayne, Ind., and one grandson.

WESTERNPORT GARAGE DAMAGED IN BLAZE

A Westernport garage was damaged slightly last night in a blaze of undetermined origin which firemen said they believed was an incendiarist's attempt to destroy the building.

The garage, a wooden structure, belongs to Claude W. Greitzner, and is located on Railroad Street in Westernport. Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Piedmont, and Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, answered the alarm at approximately 10:30 p. m. and remained on the scene about 20 minutes.

Firemen said a window of the garage had been broken and a few planks removed from the side of the building. A bucket of either paint or tar was found inside the garage, but firemen said it was impossible to determine the exact contents of the bucket after the blaze.

Communist Farming Is Outlined By Jackson

Other officers re-elected include Coy Mearkle, Clearville, Pa., vice president; McCall Taylor, Schellsburg, Pa., secretary; and J. A. S. Beegle, Bedford, Pa., treasurer.

Jackson gave the history of agriculture under a dictatorship. Harold McCulloch, assistant director of Agriculture Extension, Pennsylvania State College, spoke on agricultural education as a means of progress in farming.

Keyser Charter Ordinance Passed By Mayor, Council

7-Member Board Will Be Elected

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER, W. Va.—An ordinance calling for an election to frame a new charter for Keyser, W. Va., was approved by the Mayor and City Council yesterday afternoon.

The ordinance also provides for the election of a charter board to consist of seven members. City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., asked local clubs and civic organizations to take an active part in selecting Charter Board candidates.

A request by Robert Shapiro to have the city remove a parking meter from the entrance to a vacant lot next to his place of business was granted.

Guy Clem and Paul Howdyshell, probationary policemen, were appointed members of Keyser's regular police force by the Mayor and Council. Clem, who had been an extra policeman for several months, replaced Talmadge Gardner on the force the first of February when Gardner was suspended. Howdyshell was placed on probation last August.

The council instructed City Attorney Swadley to take necessary action in having a court order changed in the case of the City of Keyser vs George Shaw.

Shaw was charged with reckless driving as a result of an accident on Main Street last August, and was fined $50 and costs. He appealed the case to the Mineral County Circuit Court where the charge was changed to hazardous driving.

Building permits granted by the council were for L. F. Nine to construct an addition to the front of a store room at 201 South Main Street at an approximate cost of $500. A permit for the construction of a five-room bungalow, West Piedmont Street, was granted to Ruth C. Long.

Firemen said a window of the garage had been broken and a few planks removed from the side of the building. A bucket of either paint or tar was found inside the garage, but firemen said it was impossible to determine the exact contents of the bucket after the blaze.

Income Tax Primer

Certain Kinds Of Income Tax-Free So Don't Include Them On Return

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—Certain kinds of income are not taxable, so be careful not to include them in your income tax return. You are not required to report income which is exempt from tax.

Some main items of income free tax are:

1. Proceeds (money) of a life insurance policy paid to you upon the death of the insured person. (However, money paid to you as a policy holder on endowment insurance is taxable to the extent that the amount received is greater than the premiums paid for the policy.)

2. Social Security benefit payments from the federal government or from a state under the federal Social Security program.

3. Property (including money) received as a gift, bequest or inheritance. (However, income later derived from such property, such as dividends and interest, is subject to tax.)

4. Money received through health or accident insurance or under workmen's compensations acts for personal injury or sickness.

5. Military service pay received since December 31, 1940, by a person below the rank of a commissioned officer. Also exempt from tax is $1,500 in annual service pay of commissioned officers.

6. Money contributed by the government to a serviceman's monthly family allowances. (This is a gift and not taxable.)

7. Pensions and other compensation received from the government by a discharged veteran for services in the armed forces. This includes all benefits under the GI Bills of Rights.

8. Mustering-out pay for military servicemen and women. Also tax-exempt are certain amounts received in cash, bonds or both (except interest on bonds) for unused leave under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946.

9. Pensions received by the family of a war veteran. A veteran does not have to serve a long time. A veteran ordinarily means a man or woman who was a member of the armed forces in wartime.

If you receive an annuity or a pension under a retirement plan toward which you have made payments, only a portion of the annuity or pension is taxed. The amount taxed is an amount received each year equal to three per cent of the total "cost" of the annuity. The total cost means the total of payments or premiums paid to obtain the annuity.

However, when the total tax-free amounts received by you equal the total cost or the annuity, then the entire amount of each annuity payment received afterward is taxable and must be reported in your return.

Some kinds of interest payments received by taxpayers are free from income tax. Among these are:

1. Interest on obligations (bonds) of a state, territory or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or possessions of the United States.

2. Interest on obligations of the United States issued before March 1, 1941, to the extent provided in the federal laws authorizing their issue.

3. Interest on obligations issued before March 1, 1941, of a corporation organized under an Act of Congress if such corporation is an instrumentality of the United States.

4. Interest on not exceeding $5,000 of United States savings bonds (at cost) and Treasury bonds (at face value) which were issued before March 1, 1941.

Income Tax Primer

Certain Kinds Of Income Tax-Free So Don't Include Them On Return

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, March 3—(AP)—Certain kinds of income are not taxable, so be careful not to include them in your income tax return. You are not required to report income which is exempt from tax.

Some main items of income free tax are:

1. Proceeds (money) of a life insurance policy paid to you upon the death of the insured person. (However, money paid to you as a policy holder on endowment insurance is taxable to the extent that the amount received is greater than the premiums paid for the policy.)

2. Social Security benefit payments from the federal government or from a state under the federal Social Security program.

3. Property (including money) received as a gift, bequest or inheritance. (However, income later derived from such property, such as dividends and interest, is subject to tax.)

4. Money received through health or accident insurance or under workmen's compensations acts for personal injury or sickness.

5. Military service pay received since December 31, 1940, by a person below the rank of a commissioned officer. Also exempt from tax is $1,500 in annual service pay of commissioned officers.

6. Money contributed by the government to a serviceman's monthly family allowances. (This is a gift and not taxable.)

7. Pensions and other compensation received from the government by a discharged veteran for services in the armed forces. This includes all benefits under the GI Bills of Rights.

8. Mustering-out pay for military servicemen and women. Also tax-exempt are certain amounts received in cash, bonds or both (except interest on bonds) for unused leave under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946.

9. Pensions received by the family of a war veteran. A veteran does not have to serve a long time. A veteran ordinarily means a man or woman who was a member of the armed forces in wartime.

If you receive an annuity or a pension under a retirement plan toward which you have made payments, only a portion of the annuity or pension is taxed. The amount taxed is an amount received each year equal to three per cent of the total "cost" of the annuity. The total cost means the total of payments or premiums paid to obtain the annuity.

However, when the total tax-free amounts received by you equal e total cost or the annuity, then the entire amount of each annuity payment received afterward is taxable and must be reported in your return.

Some kinds of interest payments received by taxpayers are free from income tax. Among these are:

1. Interest on obligations (bonds) of a state, territory or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or possessions of the United States.

2. Interest on obligations of the United States issued before March 1, 1941, to the extent provided in the federal laws authorizing their issue.

3. Interest on obligations issued before March 1, 1941, of a corporation organized under an Act of Congress if such corporation is an instrumentality of the United States.

4. Interest on not exceeding $5,000 of United States savings bonds (at cost) and Treasury bonds (at face value) which were issued before March 1, 1941.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

By J. GLENN BEALL
(Member of Congress from Maryland Sixth District)

It is always gratifying to have the proper authorities approve projects that mean so much to a great many citizens of the sixth Congressional District. It makes a representative in Congress feel that he has accomplished one of the things for which he was sent to accomplish. Thus, my complete thanks to the House Appropdiations Committee for approving an allocation of $500,000 for flood control for Cumberland and Ridgeley and another $400,000 for the first step in completion of the Savage River Dam and to the many persons who gave untiring support to the project.

The ultimate completion of these projects will mean that the citizens of Cumberland and Western Maryland will not have to live in fear of rushing flood waters pouring into the cities and adjacent farmlands, leaving destruction in its path. There is nothing finer than a spirited body of water that is completely controlled. It looks like the old Potomac and Wills Creek are in for a bit of taming. It will be an ambition realized for a good many of us in Maryland.

RUSSIA

It is impossible to confine our thoughts to our own District when Russia is acting up. What is Russia up to? What is her game? Why did she seize Czeschovlovakia and seems about to take over Finland? Is it a well-planned campaign to push her way into the West? Perhaps the Marshall Plan and the effect it will have in Europe has Russia worried and rather than wait has jumped in to take over before the plan can get started. Or, perhaps Russia believes the Western countries would smother out some of the Communistic feeling in the East if convenient bridges were left standing.

I feel sure that the recent events in Europe are almost bound to speed approval of the European Recovery Program. As a matter of fact, Senator Vandenberg said: "Events in Czeschoslovakia and Finland * * * make it obvious that time is of the essence in doing whatever we are going to do."

ON THE HILL

Cattle have to have a place to live too, so I contacted the Office of the Housing Expediter asking for favorable consideration of the application of the Washington County Agricultural and Mechanical Association to construct four cattle barns. This office assured us that approval will be given and construction started in the very near future.

It was surprising to me to learn that 26 Veteran Administration adjudicators, 19 of whom are veterans, received notification of their dismisal effective March 31, 1948. These employees had been told they would be given an opportunity to take the necessary Civil Service examination. However, they had already received their "pink slips" when notices were sent of the closing date for applicants for the examination to select 2,500 Adjudicators for Veterans Administration. But it is good to report that these dismissal notices have been recalled for the time being, in order that these 26 Adjudicators can be given a chance to take proper examinations.

I appeared before Post Office and Civil Service Committee on March 3, to speak in behalf of legislation increasing salaries of postal employes. Attended an executive meeting of the Roads Sub-Committee of the Public Works Committee to discuss amendments to the Federal Roads Act which has been reported out of the committee. Introduced a bill which would permit property owners to file objections and exceptions to awards of damages and assessments of benefits growing out of condemnation proceedings for the extension of Eastern Avenue in the District of Columbia.

I took note last week of the progressive and forward step taken by the Montgomery County Commissioners in providing a pension system for the Civil Service employes of the county government. This seems to be just another step of many which have been taken by the present Board of County Commissioners, since assuming office in 1946.

Columbia Eliminates Princeton From Race

NEW YORK, March 3—(INS)—The Columbia Lions avenged their only 1947-48 basketball loss tonight with a 76-50 thrashing of the Princeton Tigers in a key Ivy League struggle before a jam-packed Columbia-gym crowd.

Two weeks ago, Princeton upset the Lions 59-54 in an overtime game.

Columbia, well aware that upon its performances depends a district bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, shot to a 33-24 half-time lead and poured it on throughout.

The defeat eliminated the Tigers as Ivy League champion contenders. Columbia's league record is 8-1. Second place Cornell sports a 7-2 mark.

Here's What Happens When Janitors Shoot

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 3 (AP)—The janitor's debut as a basketball player was brief—but loud.

The glass backboard, which had been cracked previously, exploded. Glass splinters showered down on one end of the pavilion. The surprised but uninjured janitor picked off the pieces and hurried to his broom.

Catamounts Defeat Bluefield, 55-44

Potomac State Five Bags 16th Victory

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Potomac State Catamounts spilled the Bluefield Ramblin' Reds, 55 to 44, in their next to final game of the season before some 250-spectators at Keyser last night.

The Cats led all the way in chalking up their 16th victory in 22 starts this season. The loss was the seventh in 28 games for Bluefield and snapped a five game Red winning string.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough played his first team for less than one and a half periods, letting the Shock Troops, the second stringers, do most of the damage during the second and third periods. The third team saw action the major part of the final stanza.

The second team, led by big Hal Newcome and diminutive Bill Sestric, completely outfought and outscored the taller Bluefield quintet. Lanky Dallas Ours effectively bottled-up big six-feet eight Warren Butterworth, Bluefield's leading scorer, and the Ramblin' Reds attack fell to pieces.

Little Neil Gutshall was the whole show while the regulars were in action. The high scoring forward slipped in between the rangy Reds for lay-ups and fired away with deadly accuracy from outside. Gutshall tied Newcome for Cat scoring honors, each getting ten points. Jim Eaton and Bob "Babe" Johnson did their share of rebound snatching to keep the Cats in front while Dick Finley and Kenny Sims turned in a good floor game.

One-handed artists Jimmy Akers, Charles Clark and Jim Vilseck kept the Reds in the game, throwing a total 32 markers through the cords. Akers and Vilseck were high in scoring for the evening with 12 apiece. Lineups:

TWENTY GRAND DIES ON GREENTREE FARM

Death was attributed to a twisted intestine. Farm Manager Clarkson Beard said the horse became ill yesterday.

Twenty Grand took the derby in the fast time of 2:01 4-5, second best on record.

His racing record included 14 victories, four seconds and two thirds to earn $261,790.

He was retired in 1935 and sent to Ireland where he stayed two years before returning to Greentree Farm. The son of the imported St. Germans was tried at the stud but never produced.

Twenty Grand held the mile and one-quarter Derby time record for 10 years until the swift Whirlaway nipped 2-5 of a second from it in 1941. Both carried 126 pounds.

Twenty Grand was buried today at Greentree near the grave of his dam. There was no special ceremony such as afforded Man O' War last November.

BARRING OF NEGROES CAUSES MANHATTAN TO QUIT NAIB TOURNEY

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Manhattan College of New York City today withdrew from the NAIB basketball tournament in Kansas City because of what it said was a clause in team contracts barring negro players.

Brother Eusebius, director of athletics at Manhattan, said the school felt it could not sign a contract which specifically barred negroes. Manhattan a Catholic college, has no negroes on its team.

The school said it had asked tournament officials to strike the clause from the contract which each participating school is required to sign.

The officials replied that it was too late to remove the rule, the college said.

Manhattan has won 18 games and lost five. It has one game with St. Bonaventure to play.

SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, March 3—(AP)—Mort Cooper's resignation from the New York Giants will neither add nor detract from the club's pitching problem. The big guy—too big, in fact—had figured only vaguely in Manager Mel Ott's plans.

Cooper's 10-year major league career was highlighted by three really fine seasons during which he was in no small way responsible for three Cardinal pennants. He was just so-so before those seasons, which started with the 1942 campaign, and was something less than sensational afterward.

Mort Cooper

Arm trouble heckled the pitching half of the Cooper brothers' battery the last seven years, but he managed to get in the spotlight occasionally in a more spectacular manner. On one occasion he and brother Walker staged a two-man strike for higher wages. Another time he pitched, and won, a world series game shortly after receiving news of his father's death.

The well-publicized strike took place just before the start of the 1945 season. Ball players usually are quite reticent about the wages they receive, but through locker room gossip or some other backfence means the Coopers discovered what some of their teammates were making, and decided they were worth more.

They announced they would not accompany the club to Chicago for the season's opener unless their salaries were increased to $15,000 each. Inasmuch as Mort had won 22 games while losing seven the year before, the revelation he was receiving less than $15,000 came as something of a shock to those under the impression that good ball players can light their cigars with $5 bills.

The Coopers changed their minds, however, about reporting for the game, but about a month later Mort went AWOL from the team in Boston, still grumbling over salary.

Owner Sam Breadon solved the problem in his own way. He traded Mort to the Boston Braves, and the deal proved another example of the phenomenal luck of the Cards in such transactions.

Mort never again was the pitcher he was with the Cards, while Charles "Red" Barrett, the pitcher St. Louis received in the deal, proved a big winner for the Red Birds. That year, anyway.

Oddly enough it isn't arm trouble, but weight trouble that is responsible for Cooper's retirement on the eve of his 34th birthday. Naturally a plumpish, baby-faced sort of citizen, Mort found himself ballooning to unreasonable proportions, speaking from a pitching standpoint.

The thought of the physical labor and spartan diet necessary to melt away those excess pounds apparently was just too much for the big guy, who never was partial to undue exercise anyway. The job with a beer concern was more to his liking, and that's all there was to it.

To give him credit, he went through a lot to keep himself in the majors as a pitcher. As early as 1941 he had an arm operation, and in 1946 he again went under the knife.

We might be wrong, but we believe his first start after his 1946 operation was against the Brooklyn Dodgers on September 29, and the Dodgers' pennant hopes depended upon that game. Mort, who had had his troubles with the Cardinals, blanked the Dodgers, 4 to 0, and virtually gave the Cardinals the pennant. Even the president sent a wire of congratulation after that victory.

Cooper rejoined his brother June 13 last year when the Giants acquired him from the Braves in exchange for Bill Voiselle and cash. His record for the season was three victories against 10 defeats, so his future appeared to be well behind him. But he was great when he had it.

Rhode Island Trails In High Scoring Race

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP) — For the first time in ten years, a team other than Rhode Island State appears headed for national high scoring honors.

Continuing their 77.1 point pace, North Carolina State's tournament-bound cagers topped the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's major college list for the second straight week.

Including games of Feb. 28, N. C. State had piled up 2,159 points in 28 contests as against Rhode Island's 1,582 in 21. R. I.'s average is 75.3.

The bureau has been keeping records for a decade and the firehouse boys from Rhode Island hitherto have always led the rest. The Rhode Islanders, however, seem a cinch for the runner-up position. Bowling Green (O.) is a trailing third with a 70.5 average having racked up 2,184 markers in 31 contests. Lawrence Tech is fourth at 70.1 and Western Kentucky fifth with 69.4.

Of the five leaders, three already have clinched tournament berths. N. C. State and Western Kentucky have been selected for the National Invitation Tourney while Lawrence Tech will play in the NAIB meet.

As expected, Oklahoma A. & M.'s precisionists lead the way in defense. The Aggies, Missouri Valley Champions, have held their opposition to 31.6 points per game. Alabama is second on 39.7, Wyoming third with 40.1, Creighton fourth with 40.8, and Tulane fifth with 41.7.

There were no changes in the leaderships of the other statistical departments. Texas paces the foul shooters with a .726 mark and Oregon State's field goal average of .375 is tops. Southern Methodist has committed the fewest personal fouls per game, 14.0, and on the other side, Iowa State has fouled the most, 24.2 per game.

The biggest jump during the week was made by Muhlenberg. The Allentown (Pa.) Mules whipped Lehigh, 99-50, and Bucknell, 105-37, to move from 21st to ninth place among the top scorers. The Mules have a 66.7 average for 20 games.

"Skeets" Starkey Wins In Tourney

TKO's Robert Pavone; Earl Smith Defeated

BALTIMORE, March 3—Randall "Skeets" Starkey, Cumberland welterweight ace, scored a technical knockout over Robert Pavone, of St. John's Boys' Club, Baltimore, in the first round of their South Atlantic AAU tournament bout here tonight at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

Starkey floored Pavone twice, the first time for eight and the second time for six. Then with Pavone in a helpless condition the referee halted the match in 1:12 and declared Starkey the winner on a TKO.

It was a second round match for Starkey who drew a bye in the opening round.

Starkey weighed 148½ pounds yesterday afternoon and took the steam baths to reduce his poundage to come within the welterweight limit.

"Skeets" will fight Dick Bryant, of the Baltimore YMCA in a third round match next Wednesday night. Bryant scored a knockout in his first tournament match.

Thirty-two welterweights are entered.

Earl Smith, Cumberland flyweight, tired in the third round of his match with Dan Perna, of the Eastern District Boys' Club, and lost the decision to the Baltimorean in a first round test. Smith held his own until the final round.

Sheldon "Breezy" Brooks, Cumberland heavyweight, drew Ernest Lindsay, of the Baltimore YMCA, as his opponent in a tournament match to be staged next Wednesday night.

Discus Champion Will Not Compete In Olympic Games

Amateur Stuff Too Costly, Fitch Says

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 3—(AP)—Bob Fitch will be among the missing when American athletes vie in the Olympic Games this summer. The recognized world discus champion is through with amateuring.

"I am definitely a pro," Fitch said today at Augustana College, where he is head football coach. "I am through with any thought of competing in the games."

"This amateur stuff is O. K. for a young fellow. "In fact, I think it is a marvelous thing. But for the married man, it just doesn't work. A fellow has to start some place, sometime, getting settled for life.

"I am going to school this summer to add to my qualifications as a coach.

"It cost me $200 to go to Europe last summer with the Olympic track stars. That's with expenses paid. You still have to spend money on those trips. It even cost me to compete in Omaha at the AAU meet.

"I get Crank letters all the time, asking me why I haven't got the patrotism to compete for the country in London. No one has offered to pay me several hundred a month for washing dishes to pay my way yet. Besides, who wants to go to England? I've been there.

"It is true that I have not written to Avery Brundage, Olympic chairman, or Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the AAU. I don't see that there is any rush about it, because I think both of them understand that I am a pro.

"More, a fellow loses interest. Discus throwing must be worked at. I don't think the United States has anything to worry about in the Olympics, with Fortune Gordien in there. I'm sure he can break the discus record. It's just a matter of getting the right throw."

Fitch is working under a verbal contract at Augustana. But he considers it binding and says he knows fully that he is and wants to be a professional.

Fitch threw the discus 180 feet, 2¾ inches in the AAU meet in Minneapolis in 1946. The mark has been approved as the world record.

Gordien, of whom Fitch spoke, is a senior at the University of Minnesota. His best mark in competition is 174 feet 1½ inches, made in the National AAU meet in Lincoln, Neb., last July 5. He had a throw of 179 feet 3 inches while touring Scandinavia with a group of all star trackmen later in the summer. He also is a shotputter and won the NCAA meeting in Salt Lake City last year with a put of 54 feet 2¼ inches.

Milford Dean's Goal Shooting Features Tilt

Racks Up Ten Fielders; Teams Miss 28 Fouls

Paced by Milford Dean, their sharpshooting forward, who meshed 10 field goals and accounted for 20 points, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels put on a whirlwind finish last night to defeat Allegany High School by the score of 46 to 38 at SS. Peter and Paul gym and thereby clinched three championships at one time.

A capacity crowd of approximately 1,200 persons saw the Hilltoppers and Campers battle on practically even terms for three quarters then a fourth period scoring splurge dethroned the defending champions.

Play Hagerstown Next

The victory in the playoff battle gave Fort Hill the W.M.I. League, city and Allegany County Class "C" championships and moved Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation in the Maryland inter-county tournament. Hagerstown High School will be Fort Hill's opponent in the initial District No. 1 inter-county tilt next Wednesday night on the Fort Hill court.

Until the fourth quarter explosion last night it was anybody's ball game. Going into the final stanza, Fort Hill held a one-point advantage at 29-28. Then as the last stanza got under way Dean, the hero of the hard-fought contest, intercepted one on Jim Clingan's passes and registered on a lay-up. Murray Hardinger and Gary Moler sank fielders in rapid succession to run the count to 35-28.

Two field goals later in the period enabled Coach Walter Bowers' warriors to pull up three points in the rear at 37-34 with 3:22 to play. Then Dean brought the crowd to its feet with a long shot that connected and sewed up the ball game.

Dean's Goal Is Clincher

After Jimmie Manges of Fort Hill and Bob Lookabaugh were ejected on five personal fouls, Fort Hill made victory sure when Dean blew another long one through the cords from the sidelines and Moler followed with a double-decker to make the score 43-34. Baskets by Vernall, Clingan and Moler and a free throw by the latter concluded the scoring.

The biggest lead held by either side in the first three periods was five points when Fort Hill held the long end of a 7-2 score. Immediately after that AHS reeled off nine consecutive points and retained the lead the remainder of the first period which ended with the score 16-13.

Allegany was held to a single field goal in the second quarter yet managed to hold the lead at halftime, 25-22. Fort Hill led by one point when the third period ended, 29-28.

The Campers succeeded in limiting the high scoring Charley Lattimer to two field goals but they couldn't stop that Dean boy. He did about everything but stand on his dome and toss them through the meshes in racking up his ten fielders.

Teams Miss 28 Foul Shots

Fort Hill outscored Allegany 20 to 16 in field goals but the foul shooting exhibition was one of the most ragged ever witnessed at an important schoolboy tilt here.. Each team sank 6 of 20 shots—a grand total of 12 points in 40 tries—which wasn't so hot.

The game was well handled by Dr. Richard A. Goldberg and "Vic" May, of Johnstown, who formerly starred here with LaSalle High School and Knights of Columbus quints. The officials called a total of 32 personals—16 on each team—and ejected two players.

Jim Clingan was Allegany's best bet. He played a stellar floor game and contributed 11 points on five fielders and one free throw. Lineups:

Columbia Eliminates Princeton From Race

NEW YORK, March 3—(INS)—The Columbia Lions avenged their only 1947-48 basketball loss tonight with a 76-50 thrashing of the Princeton Tigers in a key Ivy League struggle before a jam-packed Columbia gym crowd.

Two weeks ago, Princeton upset the Lions 59-54 in an overtime game.

Columbia, well aware that upon its performances depends a district bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, shot to a 33-24 half-time lead and poured it on throughout.

The defeat eliminated the Tigers as Ivy League champion contenders. Columbia's league record is 8-1. Second place Cornell sports a 7-2 mark.

Here's What Happens When Janitors Shoot

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 3 (AP)—The janitor's debut as a basketball player was brief—but loud.

The glass backboard, which had been cracked previously, exploded. Glass splinters showered down on one end of the pavilion. The surprised but uninjured janitor picked off the pieces and hurried to his broom.

Catamounts Defeat Bluefield, 55-44

Potomac State Five Bags 16th Victory

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

The Cats led all the way in chalking up their 16th victory in 22 starts this season. The loss was the seventh in 28 games for Bluefield and snapped a five game Red winning string.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough played his first team for less than one and a half periods, letting the Shock Troops, the second stringers, do most of the damage during the second and third periods. The third team saw action the major part of the final stanza.

The second team, led by big Hal Newcome and diminutive Bill Sestric, completely outfought and outscored the taller Bluefield quintet. Lanky Dallas Ours effectively bottled-up big six-feet eight Warren Butterworth, Bluefield's leading scorer, and the Ramblin' Reds attack fell to pieces.

Little Neil Gutshall was the whole show while the regulars were in action. The high scoring forward slipped in between the rangy Reds for lay-ups and fired away with deadly accuracy from outside. Gutshall tied Newcome for Cat scoring honors, each getting ten points. Jim Eaton and Bob "Babe" Johnson did their share of rebound snatching to keep the Cats in front while Dick Finley and Kenny Sims turned in a good floor game.

One-handed artists Jimmy Akers, Charles Clark and Jim Vilseck kept the Reds in the game, throwing a total 32 markers through the cords. Akers and Vilseck were high in scoring for the evening with 12 apiece. Lineups:

TWENTY GRAND DIES ON GREENTREE FARM

His racing record included 14 victories, four seconds and two thirds to earn $261,790.

He was retired in 1935 and sent to Ireland where he stayed two years before returning to Greentree Farm. The son of the imported St. Germans was tried at the stud but never produced.

Twenty Grand held the mile and one-quarter Derby time record for 10 years until the swift Whirlaway nipped 2-5 of a second from it in 1941. Both carried 126 pounds.

BARRING OF NEGROES CAUSES MANHATTAN TO QUIT NAIB TOURNEY

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Manhattan College of New York City today withdrew from the NAIB basketball tournament in Kansas City because of what it said was a clause in team contracts barring negro players.

Brother Eusebius, director of athletics at Manhattan, said the school felt it could not sign a contract which specifically barred negroes. Manhattan a Catholic college, has no negroes on its team.

The school said it had asked tournament officials to strike the clause from the contract which each participating school is required to sign.

The officials replied that it was too late to remove the rule, the college said.

Manhattan has won 18 games and lost five. It has one game with St. Bonaventure to play.

SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, March 3—(AP)—Mort Cooper's resignation from the New York Giants will neither add nor detract from the club's pitching problem. The big guy—too big, in fact—had figured only vaguely in Manager Mel Ott's plans.

Cooper's 10-year major league career was highlighted by three really fine seasons during which he was in no small way responsible for three Cardinal pennants. He was just so-so before those seasons, which started with the 1942 campaign, and was something less than sensational afterward.

Mort Cooper

Arm trouble heckled the pitching half of the Cooper brothers' battery the last seven years, but he managed to get in the spotlight occasionally in a more spectacular manner. On one occasion he and brother Walker staged a two-man strike for higher wages. Another time he pitched, and won, a world series game shortly after receiving news of his father's death.

The well-publicized strike took place just before the start of the 1945 season. Ball players usually are quite reticent about the wages they receive, but through locker room gossip or some other backfence means the Coopers discovered what some of their teammates were making, and decided they were worth more.

They announced they would not accompany the club to Chicago for the season's opener unless their salaries were increased to $15,000 each. Inasmuch as Mort had won 22 games while losing seven the year before, the revelation he was receiving less than $15,000 came as something of a shock to those under the impression that good ball players can light their cigars with $5 bills.

The Coopers changed their minds, however, about reporting for the game, but about a month later Mort went AWOL from the team in Boston, still grumbling over salary.

Owner Sam Breadon solved the problem in his own way. He traded Mort to the Boston Braves, and the deal proved another example of the phenomenal luck of the Cards in such transactions.

Mort never again was the pitcher he was with the Cards, while Charles "Red" Barrett, the pitcher St. Louis received in the deal, proved a big winner for the Red Birds. That year, anyway.

Oddly enough it isn't arm trouble, but weight trouble that is responsible for Cooper's retirement on the eve of his 34th birthday. Naturally a plumpish, baby-faced sort of citizen, Mort found himself ballooning to unreasonable proportions, speaking from a pitching standpoint.

The thought of the physical labor and spartan diet necessary to melt away those excess pounds apparently was just too much for the big guy, who never was partial to undue exercise anyway. The job with a beer concern was more to his liking, and that's all there was to it.

To give him credit, he went through a lot to keep himself in the majors as a pitcher. As early as 1941 he had an arm operation, and in 1946 he again went under the knife.

We might be wrong, but we believe his first start after his 1946 operation was against the Brooklyn Dodgers on September 29, and the Dodgers' pennant hopes depended upon that game. Mort, who had had his troubles with the Cardinals, blanked the Dodgers, 4 to 0, and virtually gave the Cardinals the pennant. Even the president sent a wire of congratulation after that victory.

Cooper rejoined his brother June 13 last year when the Giants acquired him from the Braves in exchange for Bill Voiselle and cash. His record for the season was three victories against 10 defeats, so his future appeared to be well behind him. But he was great when he had it.

Wolfpack Leads College Quints With 77.1 Mark

Rhode Island Trails In High Scoring Race

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP) — For the first time in ten years, a team other than Rhode Island State appears headed for national high scoring honors.

Continuing their 77.1 point pace, North Carolina State's tournament-bound cagers topped the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's major college list for the second straight week.

Including games of Feb. 28, N. C. State had piled up 2,159 points in 28 contests as against Rhode Island's 1,582 in 21. R. I.'s average is 75.3.

The bureau has been keeping records for a decade and the firehouse boys from Rhode Island hitherto have always led the rest. The Rhode Islanders, however, seem a cinch for the runner-up position. Bowling Green (O.) is a trailing third with a 70.5 average having racked up 2,184 markers in 31 contests. Lawrence Tech is fourth at 70.1 and Western Kentucky fifth with 69.4.

Of the five leaders, three already have clinched tournament berths. N. C. State and Western Kentucky have been selected for the National Invitation Tourney while Lawrence Tech will play in the NAIB meet.

As expected, Oklahoma A. & M.'s precisionists lead the way in defense. The Aggies, Missouri Valley Champions, have held their opposition to 31.6 points per game. Alabama is second on 39.7, Wyoming third with 40.1, Creighton fourth with 40.8, and Tulane fifth with 41.7.

There were no changes in the leaderships of the other statistical departments. Texas paces the foul shooters with a .726 mark and Oregon State's field goal average of .375 is tops. Southern Methodist has committed the fewest personal fouls per game, 14.0, and on the other side, Iowa State has fouled the most, 24.2 per game.

The biggest jump during the week was made by Muhlenberg. The Allentown (Pa.) Mules whipped Lehigh, 99-50, and Bucknell, 105-37, to move from 21st to ninth place among the top scorers. The Mules have a 66.7 average for 20 games.

"Skeets" Starkey Wins In Tourney

TKO's Robert Pavone; Earl Smith Defeated

Starkey floored Pavone twice, the first time for eight and the second time for six. Then with Pavone in a helpless condition the referee halted the match in 1:12 and declared Starkey the winner on a TKO.

It was a second round match for Starkey who drew a bye in the opening round.

Starkey weighed 148½ pounds yesterday afternoon and took the steam baths to reduce his poundage to come within the welterweight limit.

"Skeets" will fight Dick Bryant, of the Baltimore YMCA in a third round match next Wednesday night. Bryant scored a knockout in his first tournament match.

Thirty-two welterweights are entered.

Earl Smith, Cumberland flyweight, tired in the third round of his match with Dan Perna, of the Eastern District Boys' Club, and lost the decision to the Baltimorean in a first round test. Smith held his own until the final round.

Sheldon "Breezy" Brooks, Cumberland heavyweight, drew Ernest Lindsay, of the Baltimore YMCA, as his opponent in a tournament match to be staged next Wednesday night.

Amateur Stuff Too Costly, Fitch Says

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 3—(AP)—Bob Fitch will be among the missing when American athletes vie in the Olympic Games this summer. The recognized world discus champion is through with amateuring.

"I am definitely a pro," Fitch said today at Augustana College, where he is head football coach. "I am through with any thought of competing in the games."

"This amateur stuff is O. K. for a young fellow. "In fact, I think it is a marvelous thing. But for the married man, it just doesn't work. A fellow has to start some place, sometime, getting settled for life.

"I am going to school this summer to add to my qualifications as a coach.

"It cost me $200 to go to Europe last summer with the Olympic track stars. That's with expenses paid. You still have to spend money on those trips. It even cost me to compete in Omaha at the AAU meet.

"I get Crank letters all the time, asking me why I haven't got the patrotism to compete for the country in London. No one has offered to pay me several hundred a month for washing dishes to pay my way yet. Besides, who wants to go to England? I've been there.

"It is true that I have not written to Avery Brundage, Olympic chairman, or Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the AAU. I don't see that there is any rush about it, because I think both of them understand that I am a pro.

"More, a fellow loses interest. Discus throwing must be worked at. I don't think the United States has anything to worry about in the Olympics, with Fortune Gordien in there. I'm sure he can break the discus record. It's just a matter of getting the right throw."

Fitch is working under a verbal contract at Augustana. But he considers it binding and says he knows fully that he is and wants to be a professional.

Fitch threw the discus 180 feet, 2¾ inches in the AAU meet in Minneapolis in 1946. The mark has been approved as the world record.

Gordien, of whom Fitch spoke, is a senior at the University of Minnesota. His best mark in competition is 174 feet 1½ inches, made in the National AAU meet in Lincoln, Neb., last July 5. He had a throw of 179 feet 3 inches while touring Scandinavia with a group of all star trackmen later in the summer. He also is a shotputter and won the NCAA meeting in Salt Lake City last year with a put of 54 feet 2¼ inches.

Milford Dean's Goal Shooting Features Tilt

Racks Up Ten Fielders; Teams Miss 28 Fouls

Paced by Milford Dean, their sharpshooting forward, who meshed 10 field goals and accounted for 20 points, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels put on a whirlwind finish last night to defeat Allegany High School by the score of 46 to 38 at SS. Peter and Paul gym and thereby clinched three championships at one time.

A capacity crowd of approximately 1,200 persons saw the Hilltoppers and Campers battle on practically even terms for three quarters then a fourth period scoring splurge dethroned the defending champions.

Play Hagerstown Next

The victory in the playoff battle gave Fort Hill the W.M.I. League, city and Allegany County Class "C" championships and moved Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation in the Maryland intercounty tournament. Hagerstown High School will be Fort Hill's opponent in the initial District No. 1 inter-county tilt next Wednesday night on the Fort Hill court.

Until the fourth quarter explosion last night it was anybody's ball game. Going into the final stanza, Fort Hill held a one-point advantage at 29-28. Then as the last stanza got under way Dean, the hero of the hard-fought contest, intercepted one on Jim Clingan's passes and registered on a layup. Murray Hardinger and Gary Moler sank fielders in rapid succession to run the count to 35-28.

Two field goals later in the period enabled Coach Walter Bowers' warriors to pull up three points in the rear at 37-34 with 3:22 to play. Then Dean brought the crowd to its feet with a long shot that connected and sewed up the ball game.

Dean's Goal Is Clincher

After Jimmie Manges of Fort Hill and Bob Lookabaugh were ejected on five personal fouls, Fort Hill made victory sure when Dean blew another long one through the cords from the sidelines and Moler followed with a double-decker to make the score 43-34. Baskets by Vernall, Clingan and Moler and a free throw by the latter concluded the scoring.

The biggest lead held by either side in the first three periods was five points when Fort Hill held the long end of a 7-2 score. Immediately after that AHS reeled off nine consecutive points and retained the lead the remainder of the first period which ended with the score 16-13.

Allegany was held to a single field goal in the second quarter yet managed to hold the lead at halftime, 25-22. Fort Hill led by one point when the third period ended, 29-28.

The Campers succeeded in limiting the high scoring Charley Lattimer to two field goals but they couldn't stop that Dean boy. He did about everything but stand on his dome and toss them through the meshes in racking up his ten fielders.

Teams Miss 28 Foul Shots

Fort Hill outscored Allegany 20 to 16 in field goals but the foul shooting exhibition was one of the most ragged ever witnessed at an important schoolboy tilt here.. Each team sank 6 of 20 shots—a grand total of 12 points in 40 tries—which wasn't so hot.

The game was well handled by Dr. Richard A. Goldberg and "Vic" May, of Johnstown, who formerly starred here with LaSalle High School and Knights of Columbus quints. The officials called a total of 32 personals—16 on each team—and ejected two players.

Jim Clingan was Allegany's best bet. He played a stellar floor game and contributed 11 points on five fielders and one free throw. Lineups:

BOUDREAU LIKES DOBY

TUCSON, Ariz., March 3—(AP)—Larry Doby, first negro player signed by an American League club, is a strong contender for an outfield job with the Cleveland Indians, Manager Lou Boudreau said today.

The Tribe pilot said there is as much difference between the Doby of today and the nervous youngster who joined the club in Chicago last summer as there is between Bob Feller and the greenest of rookie pitchers.

"The nature of the situation put tremendous pressure on him last summer," Boudreau said. "He was as tight as a drumhead every time he stepped to the plate."

Doby came to the Indians as a second baseman but Boudreau said the Tribal brain trust decided to try him in the outfield "for several mechanical reasons."

KELLER JOINS NATS

ORLANDO, Fla., March 3—(AP)—President Clark Griffith today announced the Washington Senators had signed Harold Keller, younger brother of the New York Yankees slugging outfielder, to a contract for the 1948 season.

Keller, a former star at the University of Maryland, has just returned from a tour of the Pacific Theater of Operations with the Coast Guard.

EDWARDS TO GET $13,000

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R., March 3—(AP)—Catcher Bruce Edwards has signed his 1948 contract, leaving the Brooklyn Dodgers without a single holdout, the club announced today. He had agreed to terms via telephone yesterday.

The contract is believed to call for a salary of approximately $13,000. Edwards, who had been reported holding out for $20,000, caught 130 games and batted .295 last season.

CONNIE SEEKS SPEED

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3—(AP)—Connie Mack said today his Philadelphia Athletics will be a bunt and hit-and-run outfit in 1948.

The veteran manager was grumbling about the slowness of foot of most of his team. For that reason, Mack said, he'll be using a lot of jump-the-gun base running featured in bunts and hit-and-run signals.

He did inject a word in favor of his outfield trio, pointing to Elmer Valo, Sam Chapman and Barney McCosky as capable of burning up the base paths on occasion.

The commission also fined Art Swiden, Pittsburgh heavyweight, $100 and suspended him for 60 days for repeated fouling in his bout with Jackie Cranford in the Duquesne Gardens at Pittsburgh last Monday.

Swiden Fined $100, Suspended 60 Days

Pennsy Boxing Body Bars Teddy Randolph

PHILADELPHIA, March 3 (AP)—Teddy Randolph, New York light heavyweight fighter, was suspended for life by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today.

Leon Rains, chairman of the commission, said Randolph was suspended for failure to keep an appearance in a 10-round bout at the Arena here Monday after declining to submit to a physical examination. Rains said the New York fighter had a bad eye.

The commission also fined Art Swiden, Pittsburgh heavyweight, $100 and suspended him for 60 days for repeated fouling in his bout with Jackie Cranford in the Duquesne Gardens at Pittsburgh last Monday.

Cadillac
PRESENTS
THE New STANDARD OF THE WORLD!

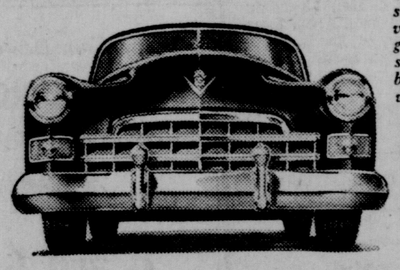
Today, the world has a new standard by which to measure motor cars. For Cadillac has taken a great stride forward—one of the greatest, perhaps, in its entire history of automotive pioneering. As is always the case when a new Cadillac is introduced, the advancement embraces every phase of automotive goodness. The exterior appearance is wholly new, and represents the soundest principles developed in years of research. Interior design and finish are a complete departure, and add immeasurably to comfort, beauty and convenience. Performance is finer in every way, for the great Cadillac chassis and engine have been thoroughly refined. And vital improvements in factory equipment have raised even Cadillac's high standards of manufacturing. In fact, all the attributes which have contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the world's premier motor car have been made more pronounced. Regardless of the price class from which you expect to select your next car, you are cordially invited to view the new Cadillac—now on display in our showrooms. When the standard of the automotive world has been so decidedly raised, it should be of interest to everyone.



Cadillac's basic characteristics of design are fully apparent in the front view of the 1948 model. Bumper and grille are even more massive. The symbolic V ornament and crest have been pleasingly refined to harmonize with new, low hood lines.

PRESENTS
THE New STANDARD OF THE WORLD!

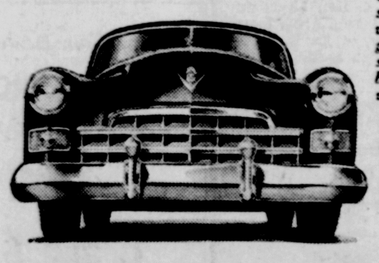
Today, the world has a new standard by which to measure motor cars. For Cadillac has taken a great stride forward—one of the greatest, perhaps, in its entire history of automotive pioneering. As is always the case when a new Cadillac is introduced, the advancement embraces every phase of automotive goodness. The exterior appearance is wholly new, and represents the soundest principles developed in years of research. Interior design and finish are a complete departure, and add immeasurably to comfort, beauty and convenience. Performance is finer in every way, for the great Cadillac chassis and engine have been thoroughly refined. And vital improvements in factory equipment have raised even Cadillac's high standards of manufacturing. In fact, all the attributes which have contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the world's premier motor car have been made more pronounced. Regardless of the price class from which you expect to select your next car, you are cordially invited to view the new Cadillac—now on display in our showrooms. When the standard of the automotive world has been so decidedly raised, it should be of interest to everyone.



Cadillac's basic characteristics of design are fully apparent in the front view of the 1948 model. Bumper and grille are even more massive. The symbolic V ornament and crest have been pleasingly refined to harmonize with new, low hood lines.

Frostburg Legion To Observe Its 29th Anniversary

State Officers To Attend Event

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG—Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, will hold a special meeting Monday night, March 8, in observance of the 29th anniversary of the post, which was chartered August 13, 1919, by the Department of Maryland during the administration of James A. Gary, Jr.

Guest speakers at the meeting, according to an announcement made yesterday by Post Commander Frank T. Powers, will include Harry Allen, Laurel, department commander, and Richard Manning, Baltimore, chairman of the Maryland Veterans Commission.

The meeting will mark the close of the 1947 membership drive, which, according to James McNeill, membership chairman, has placed the names of 535 war veterans on the post roster. The goal for 1947 is 600.

Another feature of the meeting will be a report from the Legion Home committee, on plans for the proposed home of the post which, according to Powers, is to be erected this year at the corner of West Main and Water Streets at an estimated cost of $70,000.

To Build Residence

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Acker, 503 Beall Street, Cumberland, have purchased a 10-acre tract of land on Route 40 in Garrett County, on which they plan to erect a new residence. The land, located near the Methodist Church, was sold by M. W. Race, present owner of the historic Johnson farm, who is planning to sell other tracts in the vicinity.

Committees Named

Committees to arrange for the annual union Good Friday service were appointed at a meeting this week of the Frostburg Ministerial Association at the Lutheran parsonage.

Rev. Holley was elected president, to serve until May, 1949. Rev. Taylor was elected secretary-treasurer of the association.

Rev. Wehler, chairman of the oxygen tent committee, reported that $1,614 has been received to cover the cost of the two oxygen tents donated recently to Miners Hospital. The total cost was $1,273, and the remaining $341.59 has been set aside as a hospital fund.

Frostburg Briefs

The Women's Guild of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, East Main Street, voted to give $25 toward the possible purchase of a fourth oxygen tent for Miners Hospital, and to be one of 100 churches of the 150 in the Pittsburgh Synod to purchase a steel chair for the Board of National Missions' proposed Bolling Green congregation.

LOCAL AIR SERVICE TO START MAY 15

Air passenger, mail and property service to Cumberland is expected to start by May 15, according to Robert M. Love, president of All-American Aviation, Inc., in an announcement yesterday at his Wilmington, Del., headquarters.

Rates for the new service will be about eight and one-quarter cents per mile. Love explained, however, that the figures are not yet definite and are subject to fluctuation in traffic volume.

The Wilmington company was selected February 19 by the Civil Aeronautics Board to engage in air transportation of persons, property and mail for three years on a 1,550-mile feeder system.

Maryland cities to be served on the Baltimore-Pittsburgh run are Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland, while those on the Baltimore-Wilmington line will be Easton, Cambridge, Salisbury and Ocean City.

The firm has 13,000,000 miles of flying on its nine-year record of pickup and non-revenue passenger operations. Its net worth is approximately $2,100,000, and the company has 2,500 stockholders.

It now employs 185 persons, but expects to expand its personnel with the inauguration of passenger service. Financial and operational headquarters are in Wilmington.

Love, who has been flying since 1929, was a deputy chief of staff of the Air Transport Command with the rank of colonel during the last war. He attended Princeton and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Improvements Asked At Lonaconing Mine

Increased rock dusting and the adoption of certain blasting precautions to supplement recent safety advances in No. 5 mine of the Georges Creek Coal Company, Inc., near Lonaconing, were proposed in a Federal mine inspection report released yesterday.

Part of the new main haulage road and some working places were dry and had not been rock-dusted. The inspectors recommended thorough rock-dusting of these areas to minimize any dust-explosion dangers, removal of all coal dust from the tipple plant, and dust-tight motors for dusty locations in this surface building.

To increase blasting safety, the inspectors advocated firing of all blasting shots or series immediately after charging, shunting and the removal of all combustible material around it.

Recent improvements include the removal of some loose roof, additional underground telephone service, and an up-todate mine map. Other recommendations called for an ample supply of adequate-sized cap pieces, unobstructed clearance along haulageways, added mechanical safeguards, wearing of protective footwear by all employes and safety goggles for eye-hazardous work, and underground first-aid equipment.

Liquor Board Reminds Licensees Of Notices

Allegany County Liquor Control Board is sending notices to all liquor license holders and those who have made application for permits, concerning regulations which must be followed before licenses can be issued or renewed.

Board members explained that a suitable sign or notice must be posted in a conspicuous place where a license has been applied for at least 10 days prior to April 30.

"To Whom It May Concern: This is to notify all persons that the undersigned applicant has filed an application with the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Allegany County for the issuance of a license to sell intoxication liquors in these premises and that a hearing upon the said application for license will be held at the Allegany County Court House on Wednesday, April 28, club and liquor licenses; Thursday, April 29, beer licenses, and Friday, April 30, beer and wine licenses."

This notice should be distinctly signed by the applicant or his name typewritten at the bottom of the notice. At the hearing the applicant will be questioned as to whether or not they have posted the notice and it is important that the same be posted, as otherwise, the Liquor Control Board may deem it necessary to refuse the application.

LOCAL AIR SERVICE TO START MAY 15

Air passenger, mail and property service to Cumberland is expected to start by May 15, according to Robert M. Love, president of All-American Aviation, Inc., in an announcement yesterday at his Wilmington, Del., headquarters.

Rates for the new service will be about eight and one-quarter cents per mile. Love explained, however, that the figures are not yet definite and are subject to fluctuation in traffic volume.

The Wilmington company was selected February 19 by the Civil Aeronautics Board to engage in air transportation of persons, property and mail for three years on a 1,550-mile feeder system.

Maryland cities to be served on the Baltimore-Pittsburgh run are Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland, while those on the Baltimore-Wilmington line will be Easton, Cambridge, Salisbury and Ocean City.

The firm has 13,000,000 miles of flying on its nine-year record of pickup and non-revenue passenger operations. Its net worth is approximately $2,100,000, and the company has 2,500 stockholders.

It now employs 185 persons, but expects to expand its personnel with the inauguration of passenger service. Financial and operational headquarters are in Wilmington.

Love, who has been flying since 1929, was a deputy chief of staff of the Air Transport Command with the rank of colonel during the last war. He attended Princeton and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

LaVale Legion Post Seeks Building Site

LaVale Post No. 219, American Legion, has a committee investigating possible sites for the construction of a post home in LaVale, and a report of the committee at this week's meeting was rejected, with the request that additional sites be examined.

On March 14, a meeting will be held at Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Harrison Street, to discuss plans for a junior baseball team.

The post received an invitation to attend the anniversary celebration of Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg, March 15, and a report on the current membership drive was reviewed.

Improvements Asked At Lonaconing Mine

Increased rock dusting and the adoption of certain blasting precautions to supplement recent safety advances in No. 5 mine of the Georges Creek Coal Company, Inc., near Lonaconing, were proposed in a Federal mine inspection report released yesterday.

Part of the new main haulage road and some working places were dry and had not been rock-dusted. The inspectors recommended thorough rock-dusting of these areas to minimize any dust-explosion dangers, removal of all coal dust from the tipple plant, and dust-tight motors for dusty locations in this surface building.

To increase blasting safety, the inspectors advocated firing of all blasting shots or series immediately after charging, shunting and the removal of all combustible material around it.

Recent improvements include the removal of some loose roof, additional underground telephone service, and an up-todate mine map. Other recommendations called for an ample supply of adequate-sized cap pieces, unobstructed clearance along haulageways, added mechanical safeguards, wearing of protective footwear by all employes and safety goggles for eye-hazardous work, and underground first-aid equipment.

Liquor Board Reminds Licensees Of Notices

Allegany County Liquor Control Board is sending notices to all liquor license holders and those who have made application for permits, concerning regulations which must be followed before licenses can be issued or renewed.

Board members explained that a suitable sign or notice must be posted in a conspicuous place where a license has been applied for at least 10 days prior to April 30.

The form of the notice follows: "To Whom It May Concern: This is to notify all persons that the undersigned applicant has filed an application with the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Allegany County for the issuance of a license to sell intoxication liquors in these premises and that a hearing upon the said application for license will be held at the Allegany County Court House on Wednesday, April 28, club and liquor licenses; Thursday, April 29, beer licenses, and Friday, April 30, beer and wine licenses."

This notice should be distinctly signed by the applicant or his name typewritten at the bottom of the notice. At the hearing the applicant will be questioned as to whether or not they have posted the notice and it is important that the same be posted, as otherwise, the Liquor Control Board may deem it necessary to refuse the application.

How fashions do change!

THE latest fashion swing takes the ladies right back to where they were when the Gibson Girl was queen! The style magazines hint that hip pads will be worn. Skirts will be long and draped. We're going back to laces, stays, and whalebone!

Back go milady's modes. Back in every respect but one—price! But then, costs on everything else have been sky-rocketing, too!

On everything? Well, practically everything. But we'd like to remind you that the average family is still getting twice as much electricity for its money today as it did twenty years ago. Just think of how many jobs this ready giant does for you—for pennies!

You can bet a 1948 chapeau that your friends and neighbors in this company will go on working day and night to assure you that electricity remains your willing, dependable, inexpensive servant!

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 3—(INS)—The $100,000 paid to Carl Sandburg by M-G-M for "Remembrance Rock," a 1500 page book, reveals an unusual story.

Danny Kaye

Sandburg was commissioned by M-G-M to write an original scenario on America, but once started, he became so enthusiastic that he spent five years completing it. The result is "Remembrance Rock" which describes four periods of American history, The Pilgrims, The American Revolution, The Civil War, and finally, the present.

A boy and a girl go through the entire book. They quarrel over intolerance when they are Pilgrims, quarrel again when one is a tory and the other a rebel during the revolutionary war period, and in the civil war sequence, one is a southerner and the other from the north.

Greer Garson has been nominated for the girl's role. Sidney Franklin, who I hear tell did a great job with Clark Gable's "Homecoming," hasn't yet named the boy part.

The German actress, Hilde Knef, signed by David Selznick, is described as blonde, beautiful and, of course, anti-Nazi.

Fraulein Knef made three pictures in Germany and it seems there was quite a race among the Hollywood producers to sign her.

Reminds me of when First National signed Pola Negri. Although Pola is Polish she made all her pictures for UFA, in Germany. First National was worried over the reception Pola would receive, for it was only a year after the first world war. Both the late Ernst Lubitsch, who was a famous German director and signed by Paramount, and Pola rapidly made friends in this country after they arrived here.

Talked to Mrs. Danny Kaye and she said Danny telephoned her from London and told her he had dinner at Ambassador Lewis Douglas' home Sunday night. Princess Elizabeth and her husband were there. She asked Danny what games we play in Hollywood. He told her about the orange game.

In the orange game, an orange is placed under the person's chin and another person tries to remove it with his chin. I know, because I won a refrigerator from Art Linkletter playing the orange game at an Atwater Kent party. Well, anyway, Danny said Elizabeth became very proficient and now it's the rage of royalty.

Danny's really getting himself in good in London. He calls Sylvia all the time and I hope when he returns he'll go back home.

"Dear Miss Parsons: Will you be kind enough to correct the statement made Sunday evening via radio about my sister being destitute in Italy. It is positively untrue. Inez is happily married, living in Rome and plans to visit here in the spring."

•—•—•

Sally O'Neil is back in Hollywood. You remember Sally O'Neil, the little Irish girl who used to be in movies?

Well, Sally has been living in Costa Rica for the last three years, and she's been quite ill. She came to Hollywood to see her sister, Molly O'Day, and Molly's husband, Jack Durant. She'll stay with the Durant children, while the Durants go to England where Jack is slated to make a picture.

It's Lina Romay who is being beaued here and there, very quietly, by Lew Ayers.

Billy Gilbert will enter Johns Hopkins for further examination of his injured arm while he is playing in Baltimore next week.

Miss Vicki James is entertaining with a party in honor of her fourth birthday. All the younger set will be there. Mama Betty Grable is giving it Saturday instead of Wednesday, Vicki's real natal day, so she could be there.

Gene Tierney is so ill with bronchitis she has had to cancel her trip to New York. She has to be ready for the start of "That Wonderful Urge" at 20th.

That's all today.

"Dear Miss Parsons: Will you be kind enough to correct the statement made Sunday evening via radio about my sister being destitute in Italy. It is positively untrue. Inez is happily married, living in Rome and plans to visit here in the spring."

Sally O'Neil is back in Hollywood. You remember Sally O'Neil, the little Irish girl who used to be in movies?

Well, Sally has been living in Costa Rica for the last three years, and she's been quite ill. She came to Hollywood to see her sister, Molly O'Day, and Molly's husband, Jack Durant. She'll stay with the Durant children, while the Durants go to England where Jack is slated to make a picture.

It's Lina Romay who is being beaued here and there, very quietly, by Lew Ayers.

Billy Gilbert will enter Johns Hopkins for further examination of his injured arm while he is playing in Baltimore next week.

Miss Vicki James is entertaining with a party in honor of her fourth birthday. All the younger set will be there. Mama Betty Grable is giving it Saturday instead of Wednesday. Vicki's real natal day, so she could be there.

Gene Tierney is so ill with bronchitis she has had to cancel her trip to New York. She has to be ready for the start of "That Wonderful Urge" at 20th.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Sincerity

The contest craze has embraced the happy world of childhood so vehemently that parents are becoming both annoyed and alarmed. The annoyance stems from the fact that kids almost always enlist the aid of one or both of their parents in composing their twenty-five word essays. The alarm is a result of the consequences of this help. The sequence of events is generally as follows: Junior composes a first draft stating "I like Oracklies because . . .", falls down badly right there and calls for help. Mother throws in a suggestion or two. Daddy chimes in with a couple more. The twenty-five word masterpiece—the prizes go to the letter containing the most sincerity, aptness and logic—is written, edited, rewritten, given a final polish and dispatched.

John Crosby

For weeks Junior haunts the radio. The great day arrives. Two winners are announced by Superman in person. Junior's name is not among them. This is not only a severe disappointment but the cause of a change in the relationship between Junior and his parents. He turns on them a look of agonized reproach. Their sincerity, aptness and logic, which had always been unquestioned, have been cast in doubt. One mother writes that her children had always considered she knew everything or almost everything but her reputation has diminished greatly because, try as she will, she can't get them into the winner's circle.

Kids present something of a problem to the contest-givers whose normal open-handed instincts have to be severely curbed. After all, you can't very well give a child a B-29 or even a Cadillac sedan. Consequently Superman and his pals have to be content with bicycles and these are being given away in such numbers that speculation in bicycle stocks must be almost as profitable these days as that in grains.

As radio prizes go, a bicycle is a gift of total insignificance. To avoid the charge of stinginess, they are given away by the thousands. Superman just concluded what he called a hidden word contest. Five messages were read off from each of which the child was expected to pluck a single word. The five correct words added up to "All men are created equal." Nine hundred thousand kiddies entered this contest; 1,000 of them guessed correctly and all got bicycles and their names read over the air. (It took ten days to read the names). One youngster who did not get a bicycle but who, I feel, deserves one, got a little confused and sent in the message: "All men are equally crazy." In the light of the contest mania, the Founding Fathers might agree that this answer was more sincere, apt and logical than the original.

In a rather cagey move to head off any rebellion on the part of parents, Tom Mix recently introduced a new wrinkle in a contest to find a name for his collie. The winning child got a bicycle with—cross my heart and hope to die—a built-in radio. The proud parents of this genius were given a Buick convertible. That ought to keep 'em quiet. For awhile at least.

Superman's coup with the thousand bicycles caught the opposition napping but Jack Armstrong took off right after him with fire in his eyes in a contest to name—I don't fully understand this—bicycles. He too will give away 1,000 bicycles but no convertibles for mummy and daddy. Seems scarcely worth it. No, no, kiddies, this one closed last week. If you didn't get your box top in by then you'll have to wait for the next one.

Don't worry. There'll be more of them. The cereal industry seems intent on keeping this thing up until every child in America possesses a bicycle on which to build up his appetite for Wheaties. Right now things are a little quiet but out in Chicago, Station WGN will soon start a children's program called "Your Birthday Party." One of the dodges on this will be a weekly riddle. The child who sends in the winning riddle gets a bicycle.

The reconstructed three-mile Wright Memorial Bridge, which extends to the sandy island where the Wright brothers made their famous airplane flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., is supported on piles, all lumber used being creosote-treated Southern yellow pine.

Gannets fly at a considerable height above the ocean, their eyes searching for fish. When one is seen they turn downward, shut their wings and drop upon it with amazing velocity, rarely missing a capture.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Sincerity

The contest craze has embraced the happy world of childhood so vehemently that parents are becoming both annoyed and alarmed. The annoyance stems from the fact that kids almost always enlist the aid of one or both of their parents in composing their twenty-five word essays. The alarm is a result of the consequences of this help. The sequence of events is generally as follows: Junior composes a first draft stating "I like Oracklies because . . .", falls down badly right there and calls for help. Mother throws in a suggestion or two. Daddy chimes in with a couple more. The twenty-five word masterpiece—the prizes go to the letter containing the most sincerity, aptness and logic—is written, edited, rewritten, given a final polish and dispatched.

John Crosby

For weeks Junior haunts the radio. The great day arrives. Two winners are announced by Superman in person. Junior's name is not among them. This is not only a severe disappointment but the cause of a change in the relationship between Junior and his parents. He turns on them a look of agonized reproach. Their sincerity, aptness and logic, which had always been unquestioned, have been cast in doubt. One mother writes that her children had always considered she knew everything or almost everything but her reputation has diminished greatly because, try as she will, she can't get them into the winner's circle.

Kids present something of a problem to the contest-givers whose normal open-handed instincts have to be severely curbed. After all, you can't very well give a child a B-29 or even a Cadillac sedan. Consequently Superman and his pals have to be content with bicycles and these are being given away in such numbers that speculation in bicycle stocks must be almost as profitable these days as that in grains.

As radio prizes go, a bicycle is a gift of total insignificance. To avoid the charge of stinginess, they are given away by the thousands. Superman just concluded what he called a hidden word contest. Five messages were read off from each of which the child was expected to pluck a single word. The five correct words added up to "All men are created equal." Nine hundred thousand kiddies entered this contest; 1,000 of them guessed correctly and all got bicycles and their names read over the air. (It took ten days to read the names). One youngster who did not get a bicycle but who, I feel, deserves one, got a little confused and sent in the message: "All men are equally crazy." In the light of the contest mania, the Founding Fathers might agree that this answer was more sincere, apt and logical than the original.

In a rather cagey move to head off any rebellion on the part of parents, Tom Mix recently introduced a new wrinkle in a contest to find a name for his collie. The winning child got a bicycle with—cross my heart and hope to die—a built-in radio. The proud parents of this genius were given a Buick convertible. That ought to keep 'em quiet. For awhile at least.

Superman's coup with the thousand bicycles caught the opposition napping but Jack Armstrong took off right after him with fire in his eyes in a contest to name—I don't fully understand this—bicycles. He too will give away 1,000 bicycles but no convertibles for mummy and daddy. Seems scarcely worth it. No, no, kiddies, this one closed last week. If you didn't get your box top in by then you'll have to wait for the next one.

Don't worry. There'll be more of them. The cereal industry seems intent on keeping this thing up until every child in America possesses a bicycle on which to build up his appetite for Wheaties. Right now things are a little quiet but out in Chicago, Station WGN will soon start a children's program called "Your Birthday Party." One of the dodges on this will be a weekly riddle. The child who sends in the winning riddle gets a bicycle.

VETERANS!
This may be your chance to become pilots
There's a lot of money in flying. Salaries of commercial pilots run into five figures! But where can you get pilot training? One of the world's best places is right in the U. S. Air Force. If you've had two years of college or can pass the necessary mental examinations, are single, aged 20-26½, you can apply right now for Aviation Cadet training with the Air Force. You will be given the world's most thorough flight course and may pilot everything from a basic trainer to a jet fighter or bomber. There's no other place where you can learn so much and be paid well while learning. After your training, you will be rated pilot, commissioned Second Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve, and assigned to flying duty with the U. S. Air Force. Get all the facts at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Forces Recruiting Station, 111 Union St., Cumberland, Md.

JOHNSON HEIGHTS
I have two beautifully located lots on the northeast corner of Hill Top Drive and Caroline Street. The inside lot is 35'x130', PRICE $1000. The corner lot fronts 41' on Hill Top Drive with a depth of 130' along Caroline Street, PRICE $1,200. These two lots would provide a beautiful home-site with ample space for a garage apartment in rear on Caroline Street. This would also make a fine apartment building site. Also have a dandy lot in the 400 block Louisiana Avenue for $1075, another in the 900 block for $1190 and one in the 600 block on Brookfield Avenue for $1000.

Moderate Demand Boosts Few Oils, Rails; AP Composite Is Unchanged

New York, March 3—(AP)—A few rails and oils responded to moderate demand today as other sections of the stock market found progress difficult.

Despite a sizable list of gainers, the Associated Press 60-stock composite finished the day unchanged at 61.6, its best level since February 9.

Scott Gets Six Months For Hitting His Mother

Luther Scott, 37, Zihlman, was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction when tried yesterday before Magistrate James P. Kenny, Frostburg, on a charge of assault and battery.

A former employe of the Big Savage Refractories, Scott denied the charge but admitted "brushing" against his elderly parent when he attempted to take a poker from her.

The incident, according to witnesses, occurred Monday when his mother started to stir a fire at home. In trying to stop her, the defendant apparently, struck her on the arm.

Mrs. Scott told the magistrate she is the mother of 13 children and the wife of Charles Scott, 82. She said her son had been unemployed about a year, "is a nuisance around the house," and has been drinking heavily.

Scott said he has been unable to find work. State Trooper Milton Hart, who arrested him at a cafe in Zihlman, said Scott has been drinking considerably.

When sentenced, the defendant indicated he would file notice of appeal and was committed to the county jail in default of $200 bond.

Tavern Owners Forfeit Bonds For Selling Beer

Two local tavern proprietors yesterday forfeited $50 bond each in Police Court when they failed to appear to answer charges of selling beer during hours that law prescribes they remain closed for municipal elections.

The defendants were identified as James Gormer, 329 North Mechanic Street, and Samuel House, Front Street. Police said both men were selling beer 20 minutes before law permitted them to open after the election polls close.

C. R. Viney, this city, forfeited $20 bond for disorderly conduct. Police accused him of fighting in the B. and O. Y.M.C.A. A disorderly conduct charge against Alstine Kerns, negress, 319 Central Avenue, was dismissed by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Legion Of Guardsmen Postpone Contest

Algonquin Post No. 2, Legion of Guardsmen, have announced that a proposed essay contest to be conducted among public school children has been postponed until early next fall.

Members of the Post were informed last night by Thomas F. Conlon, trustee, that following a conference with Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, it was decided to postpone the event due to the lateness of the school season.

Members of the Post voted contributions to the Red Cross and Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Sentence Suspended In Theft Case

Mrs. Betty Harris, 18, Boulevard Apartments, received a suspended sentence of three months in the County Jail yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of stealing $15 from Mrs. Austin Fortney, of the same address.

Magistrate Olivcer H. Bruce, Jr., who heard the case in Trial Magistrates Court, suspended sentence on condition that Mrs. Harris make restitution on or before March 15.

Police said Mrs. Harris told them she placed a fake telephone call to Mrs. Fortney and then took the money from the woman's apartment while she was absent.

Emery's Bus Line Asks Rate Increase

The Public Service Commission yesterday was requested to grant a general rate increase on Maryland operations of Emery's Motor Coach Lines, Inc., which has headquarters at Martinsburg, W. Va.,

The line operates between Keyser and Piedmont, W. Va., and Cumberland. The company declared operating costs have risen so greatly that in the past 18 months its operations were "on the borderline and often showing a loss."

The bus line asked a 10 per cent increase for most one-way and roundtrip fares and 20 per cent increase on commuters' tickets.

Moderate Demand Boosts Few Oils, Rails; AP Composite Is Unchanged

New York, March 3—(AP)—A few rails and oils responded to moderate demand today as other sections of the stock market found progress difficult.

Despite a sizable list of gainers, the Associated Press 60-stock composite finished the day unchanged at 61.6, its best level since February 9.

At the close advances were held by 442 of the 926 issues traded, while 247 declines were registered.

Scott Gets Six Months For Hitting His Mother

Luther Scott, 37, Zihlman, was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction when tried yesterday before Magistrate James P. Kenny, Frostburg, on a charge of assault and battery.

A former employe of the Big Savage Refractories, Scott denied the charge but admitted "brushing" against his elderly parent when he attempted to take a poker from her.

The incident, according to witnesses, occurred Monday when his mother started to stir a fire at home. In trying to stop her, the defendant apparently, struck her on the arm.

Mrs. Scott told the magistrate she is the mother of 13 children and the wife of Charles Scott, 82. She said her son had been unemployed about a year, "is a nuisance around the house," and has been drinking heavily.

Scott said he has been unable to find work. State Trooper Milton Hart, who arrested him at a cafe in Zihlman, said Scott has been drinking considerably.

When sentenced, the defendant indicated he would file notice of appeal and was committed to the county jail in default of $200 bond.

Tavern Owners Forfeit Bonds For Selling Beer

Two local tavern proprietors yesterday forfeited $50 bond each in Police Court when they failed to appear to answer charges of selling beer during hours that law prescribes they remain closed for municipal elections.

The defendants were identified as James Gormer, 329 North Mechanic Street, and Samuel House, Front Street. Police said both men were selling beer 20 minutes before law permitted them to open after the election polls close.

The law prescribes that places selling alcoholic beverages remain closed during and one hour after election hours.

C. R. Viney, this city, forfeited $20 bond for disorderly conduct. Police accused him of fighting in the B. and O. Y.M.C.A. A disorderly conduct charge against Alstine Kerns, negress, 319 Central Avenue, was dismissed by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Primary Returns Are Unchanged By Official Count

Difference Of Only Five Votes Noted

Official tabulation of returns in Tuesday's primary election was completed yesterday afternoon at City Hall, and City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger reported that the standing of all candidates remained unchanged as compared with the earlier unofficial returns.

Only changes made in the official tabulation as compared to the unofficial reports, however, concerned total votes cast for Edward R. Burkey, Richard S. Jones, Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and Mark A. Schriver.

All but Keegan, who is also seeking a second term on the City Council, were defeated for council nomination.

Unofficial returns listed 3,579 votes for Keegan, who headed the 21 council candidates. He gained one vote in the official count, due to an error in addition in the unofficial returns, to make his total vote 3,580.

Burkey lost one vote in the official total of 664 and Jones lost two votes for a total of 89, also through errors in addition of votes cast in the 20 precincts.

In the Schriver vote, the official tabulation listed 53 votes cast at Ward 1, Precinct 1, instead of 51. This gain was cancelled out by an official tally of 55 votes at 6-6 as opposed to the unofficial return of 58, to make his total vote 1,081 instead of 1,082.

No other changes were reported in either the mayoralty or council returns.

Those whose names will appear on the general election ballot March 16 are Roy W. Eves and Mayor Thomas S. Post, mayoralty candidates, and Keegan, Commissioner William J. Edwards, Edgar Reynolds, William H. Buchholtz, Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller, George H. Tederick, Victor M. Hebb and Light, who were nominated in that order.

"I am most grateful to the citizens of Cumberland for the splendid support given me in Tuesday's primary."

Fort Hill History Classes Hold Mock Primary Election

Similarity Noted With City Returns

United States history students at Fort Hill High School held their own "city Primary election" and campaign in the classes of Robert Morris and Miss Lillian Meyers, while the grown up voters were participating in the actual balloting Tuesday.

The students gave Roy W. Eves 97 votes, Thomas S. Post 47, and F. Allan Weatherholt 45 in the mayoralty contest.

Myers Light, 42; William Buchholtz 24; Wilbur Sills 23; Quentin Rice, 20; Victor Hebb 18; William J. Edwards 17; Richard Jones 11; Edward Kirk, 11; Lloyd Adams, 8; Claude Keller, 7; Cecil Clark 6; John Wetzel, 5; and Raymond Kuhns, 2.

The students dropped the incumbents Light and Edwards and also failed to place Buchholtz and Hebb in the top eight, where they finished Tuesday. They named instead, McGee, Schriver, Burkey and Davis.

Two applications for occupancy permits were appealed to the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday, and a third application was granted in the city engineer's office.

An appeal was also filed by Vincent J. Gilarmo, 532 North Centre Street, to use a one-story building at the rear of 623 Elm Street, in a Residential B zoning district, as a cleaning plant. A permit was granted to Ted R. Stilwell, 106 East Oldtown Road, to operate a part-time photo finishing business in his home.

Four Overloading Cases Are Heard In Local Court

Driver Of Beer Truck Is Fined

Cases involving four truck drivers arrested last Thursday by State Police on charges of violating a State Roads Commission regulation on overloading were heard in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew.

Robert E. Davis, 410 Columbia Street, a truck driver for the Cumberland Brewing Company, was fined $5 and $2 costs. J. H. Stitely, vice president of the company, entered a plea of guilty for Davis. He explained that the overloading was the fault of the company since the weight of the truck cab was not figured in loading the truck.

In another case, two jail sentences aggregating 13 days were imposed on William C. Park, Mt. Lake Park, in default of $12.75 in fines and costs on an overloading charge and a license count.

Authorities said Park was driving a truck load of fertilizer from Baltimore to Mt. Lake Park when he was arrested on Route 40 west of here by Trooper Harry Bosley. The load was allegedly 3,000 pounds overweight.

Park was fined $5.75 for driving without a license and $5 and $2 costs for overloading. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

In another overloading case, Harry L. Davis, 137 Wineow Street, an employe of the Howell Coal Company here, was fined $20 and costs after the firm's attorney, David Kauffman, entered a plea of guilty. Davis' load weighed 3,100 pounds over the allotted amount, it was charged.

Melvin M. Nave, Corriganville, drew a suspended sentence, and Melvin O. Robinson, Frostburg, was found not guilty on similar charges. Both are also employed by the Howell company.

Thomas S. Moore, Charleston, W. Va., forfeited $6.45 bond for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green on February 17. He was arrested by Trooper Milton Hart.

Four successive long blasts will indicate a flood is possible, while four short blasts in succession will indicate a flood is certain.

Primary Returns Are Unchanged By Official Count

Difference Of Only Five Votes Noted

Official tabulation of returns in Tuesday's primary election was completed yesterday afternoon at City Hall, and City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger reported that the standing of all candidates remained unchanged as compared with the earlier unofficial returns.

Some observers had predicted that the official count might affect the close race between Frank J. Davis and Street Commissioner Myers G. Light for eighth place on the council ballot.

Davis polled 1,511 votes in the primary, trailing Light, who is seeking re-election to his second term, by only 53 votes.

Only changes made in the official tabulation as compared to the unofficial reports, however, concerned total votes cast for Edward R. Burkey, Richard S. Jones, Police Commissioner William V. Keegan and Mark A. Schriver.

All but Keegan, who is also seeking a second term on the City Council, were defeated for council nomination.

Unofficial returns listed 3,579 votes for Keegan, who headed the 21 council candidates. He gained one vote in the official count, due to an error in addition in the unofficial returns, to make his total vote 3,580.

Burkey lost one vote in the official total of 664 and Jones lost two votes for a total of 89, also through errors in addition of votes cast in the 20 precincts.

In the Schriver vote, the official tabulation listed 53 votes cast at Ward 1, Precinct 1, instead of 51. This gain was cancelled out by an official tally of 55 votes at 6-6 as opposed to the unofficial return of 58, to make his total vote 1,081 instead of 1,082.

No other changes were reported in either the mayoralty or council returns.

Those whose names will appear on the general election ballot March 16 are Roy W. Eves and Mayor Thomas S. Post, mayoralty candidates, and Keegan, Commissioner William J. Edwards, Edgar Reynolds, William H. Buchholtz, Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller, George H. Tederick, Victor M. Hebb and Light, who were nominated in that order.

Meanwhile, Keegan, who polled the largest number of votes among all candidates in the primary election, issued the following statement:

"I am most grateful to the citizens of Cumberland for the splendid support given me in Tuesday's primary."

Similarity Noted With City Returns

United States history students at Fort Hill High School held their own "city Primary election" and campaign in the classes of Robert Morris and Miss Lillian Meyers, while the grown up voters were participating in the actual balloting Tuesday.

Results of the school children's "mock" election were somewhat in line with the final returns of the actual balloting, a tabulation of the school voting shows.

The students gave Roy W. Eves 97 votes, Thomas S. Post 47, and F. Allan Weatherholt 45 in the mayoralty contest.

Myers Light, 42; William Buchholtz 24; Wilbur Sills 23; Quentin Rice, 20; Victor Hebb 18; William J. Edwards 17; Richard Jones 11; Edward Kirk, 11; Lloyd Adams, 8; Claude Keller, 7; Cecil Clark 6; John Wetzel, 5; and Raymond Kuhns, 2.

The students dropped the incumbents Light and Edwards and also failed to place Buchholtz and Hebb in the top eight, where they finished Tuesday. They named instead, McGee, Schriver, Burkey and Davis.

Four Overloading Cases Are Heard In Local Court

Driver Of Beer Truck Is Fined

Cases involving four truck drivers arrested last Thursday by State Police on charges of violating a State Roads Commission regulation on overloading were heard in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew.

Robert E. Davis, 410 Columbia Street, a truck driver for the Cumberland Brewing Company, was fined $5 and $2 costs. J. H. Stitely, vice president of the company, entered a plea of guilty for Davis. He explained that the overloading was the fault of the company since the weight of the truck cab was not figured in loading the truck.

In another case, two jail sentences aggregating 13 days were imposed on William C. Park, Mt. Lake Park, in default of $12.75 in fines and costs on an overloading charge and a license count.

Park's sister, however, later paid the fines and he was not jailed.

Authorities said Park was driving a truck load of fertilizer from Baltimore to Mt. Lake Park when he was arrested on Route 40 west of here by Trooper Harry Bosley. The load was allegedly 3,000 pounds overweight.

Park was fined $5.75 for driving without a license and $5 and $2 costs for overloading. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

In another overloading case, Harry L. Davis, 137 Wineow Street, an employe of the Howell Coal Company here, was fined $20 and costs after the firm's attorney, David Kauffman, entered a plea of guilty. Davis' load weighed 3,100 pounds over the allotted amount, it was charged.

Melvin M. Nave, Corriganville, drew a suspended sentence, and Melvin O. Robinson, Frostburg, was found not guilty on similar charges. Both are also employed by the Howell company.

Thomas S. Moore, Charleston, W. Va., forfeited $6.45 bond for exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green on February 17. He was arrested by Trooper Milton Hart.

Another motorist, Robert E. Keller, Gainesboro, Va., forfeited the same amount for exceeding 30 at Bowling Green yesterday when nabbed by Trooper Hart.
